High in the Siskiyou Lou had his cabin. In the spring and summer he followed the mountains streams, planning the sand and gravel for gold, and in the winter he lived alone, hunting, dreaming and smoking great quantities of tobacco. He was an old man at home, the wilderness and made almost the mystic by a rap attention to the things that spoke of treasure hidden in the hills. There are hundreds of these lone men, grown old in the search, who take their living from the rocks and streams, plotting, the while, the time when they will strike it rich.

One day when the snow drifted late on his door and beat like a hammer on his chimney, Lou was alone, facing the winter with the terror of the prospector never anticipated. So long as he has fuel for his fire, food for the winter and tobacco for his pipe, you prospector will get his stake before long.

The old man lay low, and was not ill, but the bottom of the stove which had served him for 20 years had fallen out and he could not walk through the drifts three miles to town.

Something must be done, and quickly. Lou thought of the ranger's station a half mile along the trail. He put on his overcoat, tied a long scarf around his head and neck, and, dragging a wooden sled, pushed along, picking out the best path through the drifts. The sled was weighted with more and more, and Lou cracked now and then in the drifts. Lou, in his straits, violated the rule of the woods when he dragged his sled to the door, loaded with his sled and took it home. "It's a hell of a load," he said, "but I'll bring it back."

Ward Ebb, supervisor of the forest, and a friend from Portland, equipped with snowshoes, dogs and sleds, came after him in the morning. "You ought to see the old bird," Ebb said, "he's a real character."

WATER PLANS AGAIN BEFORE THREE CITIES

Question of Creating District for Eastbay Is Revived As Company Announces It Will Not Tolerate Delays

Utility Corporation Says It Intends to Go Ahead With Proposal to Seek Out Distant Source for Supplies

As a result of several definite moves by organizations and officials the question of a new water supply for Oakland and the Eastbay cities is once more drawn out of the dusty files and up for a popular attention. Over night there was started machinery designed to call the nearby communities together for the purpose of planning the formation of a public utilities district and representative bodies have been pledged both for and against municipal ownership.

Whatever decision is reached by the meetings scheduled for the near future, the East Bay Water Company will go ahead and develop its own supply. The company's vice president, George H. Wilhelm, announced before the Forum of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce last evening that the time for an end of delay and postponement was at hand, that engineers were now engaged in making a study of all possible sources, and that they would be in position to start actual construction on a distant water project by 1923.

NO ACTION TAKEN IN TWENTY YEARS.

The Berkeley meeting heard Wilhelm, Mayor John D. Galloway, Mayor Louis Bartlett and a paper by Chris Runckel. All of the speakers called attention to the fact that the water problem for twenty years had been a problem, and that nothing has been done, and that action, either by the company or the municipalities was an imperative necessity. Viewing the exceedingly small amount of action taken in the past, there were several who predicted that public indifference would prevent any concerted move to acquire a supply.

Bringing the matter before all of the Eastbay cities and to state an interest which may mean the formation of a utilities district, under the new state law, resolutions were adopted. They read:

Resolved, That the Forum of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce recommends to the Board of Directors of the chamber, that it issue an invitation to the representatives of civic and commercial organizations of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Richmond and other communities, if any, as the board may consider desirable, to meet at such time and place as the board may designate for the purpose of giving consideration to the water supply of the territory of the east side of San Francisco Bay.

MAYORS OF EASTBAY CITIES WILL MEET.

The resolutions were presented by James H. Todd.

Before the meeting suggested in the resolutions can be called mayors of the Eastbay communities will have met with Mayor John D. Galloway of Oakland city hall for a similar discussion. This session has been set for 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Wilhelm's declaration that the water company will proceed with the actual construction work means that the time had arrived to end the delay in which the water officials had waited for the cities to take action. It was an announcement with the ring of an ultimatum.

"In 1904 I was first connected with a movement in the Eastbay for the solution of the water problem," said Wilhelm. "In my opinion the cities are no nearer a solution now than they were at that time, consequently the East Bay Water Company must place itself in a position to meet its responsibilities to the public."

"The present available sources nearby, when fully developed, will furnish water for not more than nine or ten years. Five years of actual construction will be necessary properly to develop a distant source, which must be available at the end of nine or ten years. This means the actual construction work must begin by 1926. The East Bay Water Company has started studies of various water sources; these will continue for four years and in 1926 we will be ready to begin construction."

Wilhelm further stated that owing to the physical difficulties of distribution and the necessity of going to some distant source for water, the Eastbay cities would never have cheap water. He also expressed the opinion that it would always be essential to use sterilization.

The present population of the Eastbay district is approximately 420,000, according to Wilhelm.

BARTLETT HINTS AT JOINING WITH E. B. W. Co.

Major Galloway announced his opposition to the public utilities district plan and pointed out that he considered obstacles in the way. In the list he cited:

"There is a lack of cohesion in the Eastbay, the cost would be too high, there is a difference of opinion as to sources, too many theorists, and public inertia."

The paper from Chris Runckel, outlining the public ownership idea and stressing the necessity for the cities to go outside for a source, was read by Elmer Nichols, in the absence of Runckel. The letter explained the law and declared that the utilities district scheme is the logical one for the Eastbay. W. E. Ellis, L. E. Blochman and Mayor Louis Bartlett were other speakers. The last named suggesting that Berkeley might be called upon to go in with San Francisco to get its water.

THREE MEN ENTOMBED IN GOLD MINE

Rescuers Work Frantically to Save the Lives of Trio Imprisoned in Idaho-Maryland Shaft, Grass Valley

Communication Is Kept Up Through Compressed Air and Water Pipes; Fall of Boulders Cuts Off Men

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1. (By International News Service).—Rescuers were working frantically this afternoon at Grass Valley to reach three miners entombed more than 1000 feet below the surface of the earth by a cave-in at the Idaho-Maryland gold mine, according to advices received by the Industrial Accident Commission.

The rescue crews have been in communication with the three entombed men by means of a three-inch compressed air pipe and a one-inch water pipe which were unbroken by the cave-in, and it is believed they will be rescued alive if there are no further rock falls.

The three men were working some distance from the shaft when the fall cut them off. Their plight was discovered and miners quickly started to dig through the intervening rock. Frequent tapings of the pipes satisfied the rescuers that the men were still alive.

The water pipe is carrying drinking water to them, and should their rescue be delayed, an attempt will be made to send liquid food to them through this pipe. The air pipe is being kept intact in order to provide them with fresh air.

Advices to the commission this afternoon from the superintendent of the mine said everything possible was being done to effect the rescue of the entombed miners.

The mine is owned by the Metals Exploration Company.

RIEBER ILL OVER U. C. STADIUM ROW

Professor Who Resigned During Controversy, Is in Sanitarium.

BERKELEY, March 1.—As a result of nervous strain resulting from agitation against the placing of the university stadium in Strawberry canyon, Professor Charles H. Rieber, head of the university's philosophy department, who tendered his resignation to the regents, has suffered a complete breakdown and is under the care of physicians.

In order that he may obtain the rest and quiet needed, Dr. Rieber was removed from Berkeley yesterday to a nearby sanitarium. Following the presentation of his resignation, Dr. Rieber was not permitted to see anyone at his home, 15 Canyon road.

So seriously has the professor taken the stadium agitation that he has been falling rapidly, according to Mrs. Rieber.

Following Rieber's resignation, the stadium site is changed, is the declaration of his friends. The philosophy professor's spirit has been crushed, they say, that he could never conduct his classes with the same enthusiasm as before.

YAP TREATY IS RATIFIED BY SENATE

Agreement With Japan on Cable Facilities Is Put Through Without Any Reservations or Amendments

First of Pacts Negotiated by Arms Limitation Conference Is Given Approval by a Vote of 67 to 22.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Yap treaty was ratified without reservations or amendments today by the Senate. The vote for ratification was 67 to 22.

The change in the federal prohibition directorship in California was said to be the first step in a general reorganization of the dry law enforcement forces there. Reports of the resignation of Mitchell have been current for some time. The action taken by Commissioner Haynes followed conferences with Senators Johnson and Shortridge on the situation in California.

An illustration of prohibition work in California, Haynes said, has been complicated by a number of problems, such as a long coast line, the Mexican border, the wine industry, the large pleasure-seeking transient population, the presence of a number of large clubs, the remonstrances of foreigners and other considerations tending to make the work difficult.

Haynes declared Mitchell personally was held in very high esteem, but that his organization apparently could not function as a whole, and "it is quite probable that a number of the members of Mitchell's organization will retire coincident with the effectiveness of their chief's resignation."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—E. Forest Mitchell, prohibition director for eight months, left his office today. He gave out a statement in which he pointed to the high standard California reached in prohibition enforcement, and hinted that there are some dishonest men among the prohibition agents who have been retained through an "invisible government" against his wishes.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Thirty anti-prohibition organizations have launched a combined drive to restore light wines and beer to America.

This fact—indicating the long-awaited signing of the wet-vets is getting under way—was made public today in a statement to the United Press by William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the floor of the Anti-Saloon League.

More of these wet organizations are getting under way, and it is difficult to keep track of them. Anderson was unofficially stated at the office of the league.

Wine and beer, promise to be made the big issue of politics in the congressional election this fall, Anderson has told the United Press that the thirty organizations are working along the following lines:

1.—Having dry congressmen appointed to diplomatic and other positions so that vacancies will be created which may or may not be filled by dry candidates.

2.—Against genuine drys in congressional elections so as to split the prohibition vote and let the wet candidates win.

3.—Conducting a constant propaganda to break down the dry primary laws which are considered as a guard to dry candidates.

CASH BONUS IS DELAYED TWO YEARS

Committee Plans for Issue of Certificates Upon Which Ex-Servicemen in Time Can Arrange for Loans.

No Subsidy for Shipping Until Soldiers Provided For, Is Slogan of Opponents to Proposal of the President.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Delay for two years in the cash payments of a bonus was virtually decided upon today by Republican members of the House ways and means committee.

It is planned to issue bonus certificates upon which ex-servicemen in time of need could obtain loans. Sentiment in the committee is that this is the only way out of the bonus situation. Republican members of the committee today named a sub-committee to work out some plan that will not cause a demand for large cash payments for a soldiers' bonus in the next two years, "according to an official announcement by Charles F. Egan."

On the sub-committee are: Fordney, Michigan; Longworth, Ohio; Greene, Iowa; Hawley, Oregon; and Treadway, Massachusetts.

However, the delay in receiving cash would be satisfactory to the American Legion chiefs, committee members, who are strongly opposed to delay in passing a bonus bill, and they would not accept a bonus plan now on a speaking tour in behalf of prompt action.

SCOTCH TO DELAY DRAIN ON TREASURY.

The committee, mindful that victory bonds must be refunded in 1923, realized that in the next two years the government would have a bad effect on the treasury. The sales tax members held, could not be put over because of the opposition to it.

The committee then decided to try for a bonus bill, but delay the drain on the treasury.

The bill would be so arranged, however, that the loans would not come due until after the treasury. Whether the sub-committee will actually find the idea feasible is still questionable.

SHIP SUBSIDY TO AWAIT BONUS ACTION.

"No bonus for the shipping interests until after the soldiers' get their bonus," was the slogan today by opponents in the Congress of President Harding's plan for a direct aid of $30,000,000 a year to American ship operators.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Delay for two years in the cash payments of a bonus was virtually decided upon today by Republican members of the House ways and means committee.

It is planned to issue bonus certificates upon which ex-servicemen in time of need could obtain loans. Sentiment in the committee is that this is the only way out of the bonus situation. Republican members of the committee today named a sub-committee to work out some plan that will not cause a demand for large cash payments for a soldiers' bonus in the next two years, "according to an official announcement by Charles F. Egan."

On the sub-committee are: Fordney, Michigan; Longworth, Ohio; Greene, Iowa; Hawley, Oregon; and Treadway, Massachusetts.

However, the delay in receiving cash would be satisfactory to the American Legion chiefs, committee members, who are strongly opposed to delay in passing a bonus bill, and they would not accept a bonus plan now on a speaking tour in behalf of prompt action.

SCOTCH TO DELAY DRAIN ON TREASURY.

The committee, mindful that victory bonds must be refunded in 1923, realized that in the next two years the government would have a bad effect on the treasury. The sales tax members held, could not be put over because of the opposition to it.

The committee then decided to try for a bonus bill, but delay the drain on the treasury.

The bill would be so arranged, however, that the loans would not come due until after the treasury. Whether the sub-committee will actually find the idea feasible is still questionable.

SHIP SUBSIDY TO AWAIT BONUS ACTION.

"No bonus for the shipping interests until after the soldiers' get their bonus," was the slogan today by opponents in the Congress of President Harding's plan for a direct aid of $30,000,000 a year to American ship operators.

FIVE SCHOOLS IN PACT TO PREVENT ROWDY ACTIONS

Rules Adopted at Joint Meeting of High Schools to Govern Conduct.

Rowdiness in the Oakland high schools has been placed in the taboo column in the book of rules of the five Oakland high schools, and hereafter peace and quiet will reign at all school athletic contests and student body functions.

As a result of a raid on the new Fremont school shops, when several unknown over-enthusiastic students painted the walls a brilliant yellow, the five high schools, at a meeting late yesterday, adopted five new rules which will be observed by all. The rules are as follows:

1—Proper behavior during the contests and care of the public buildings and other property where the games are held.

2—Decent conduct and recognition of the rights of citizens in the cars in going to and coming from the games.

3—To refrain from profane, obscene and foul language at the games, and especially in the dressing rooms.

4—To refrain from painting sidewalks, buildings, etc. before or after games.

The entire school of students and faculty may have the opportunity to participate.

Following the painting of the walls at Fremont a series of basketball games was called off by school officials. In pledging themselves to use their power and influence for both better sportsmanship and good citizenship, the representatives of the five schools, in addition to adopting the five rules, petitioned the school authorities to continue the basketball series, which petition was granted today. The series will be resumed Friday, and special "police-men," representing the two schools between which the game was suspended, will be on hand to see to it that any nuisance attempted will be promptly squelched.

INDUSTRIAL BODY ON LASTING BASIS FOR EMERYVILLE

Association Organized During the Anti-Division Campaign, Made Permanent

EMERYVILLE, March 1.—The Emeryville Industrial Association, which came into being during the campaign against county division, was made a permanent organization at a meeting last night of business-men representing practically every industry in Emeryville.

The election of officers and the discussion of a permanent policy occupied the greater part of the evening. A. MacKenzie, of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, was named president, and A. H. Irving, of the Emeryville Electric Company, first vice-president. Arthur D. Corder was chosen second vice-president, E. B. Lynch, treasurer, and R. F. Lawley, secretary. The finance committee consists of D. F. Ensminger, A. J. St. Clair and E. Coleman.

The purpose of the organization, as outlined last night, will be to effect a more rapid industrial growth for Emeryville, to keep down insurance rates, to bring about a better water supply and to sponsor legislation that will be of benefit to the community and state.

A new constitution and by-laws, prepared by City Attorney E. C. Jenkins, were adopted. The much discussed grade crossings at the foot of Park avenue composed the subject for the first discussion of the organization under its reorganization.

JAVA MASSACRE OF ALL WHITES BALKED BY DUTCH

Plot of "Sarikat Islam" to Slay All Whites Exposed; Conspirators Seized.

A gigantic plot which aimed at the murder of all Dutch and other white residents in the island of Java, within one night has been nipped in the bud by the government of the Dutch East Indies.

Tjokro Adnan-Jito, leader of the "Sarikat Islam" movement, which planned the massacre and the killing of its lieutenants alive before they could appear before a civil and military tribunal at Batavia.

Word of this was brought to San Francisco today by travelers from Java. One of their number, a government official, whose position makes it inadvisable to disclose his name, made the following statement on the situation:

"The 'Sarikat Islam' movement of Java is directly connected with the Gandhi movement of British-India, but is much more militant. For its heads are Mohammedans, and not Hindus. The 'Sarikat Islam' has been planning for some time very carefully throughout Java. Arms were smuggled in and bought from Chinese gun runners, and it was agreed that, on a certain recent night, the Javanese were to rise in rebellion and murder the whites in their beds. No quarter was to be granted, not even to the white women."

ARMED WHEN CAPTURED.

"But thanks to the loyalty of a few Javanese who were let into the secret, the plans of the conspirators leaked out. The Dutch government immediately brought a large number of reliable troops to Java from Madura, Ambon, Sumatra and other islands, and the arrest of the ringleaders followed. Abdul Moes, a 'Sarikat Islam' leader, who headed a deputation some years ago to Holland requesting self government for the Javanese, was among those arrested."

"Only in one part of Java did the conspiracy actually come to an eruption. This was in the so-called 'Preanger Regencies,' where the conspirators were caught with weapons in their hands, and here the Dutch had to shoot several of them."

MOHAMMEDANS ACCUSED.

"The conspiracy is assumed to have been the work of a small group of fanatic Mohammedans, who are ambitious to rule the millions of meek and easy-going Javanese of all castes and religions."

"The affair has opened the eyes of the whites to the dangers amid which they live in a fancied security. For the first time in my experience, the white women in Java are carrying doses of powerful poison about with them, to be used in case of a sudden rising, when no alternative but this would be left to them."

MARY PICKFORD DENIES CLAIM IN $180,000 SUIT

Film Star Draws Big Crowd to Federal Court As She Takes Witness Stand.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Mary Pickford, "herself, not a movie," attracted a large crowd to the Federal Court Building when she sat in the witness chair and denied that she engaged Mrs. Cora C. Wilkenson to get her a big boost in salary back in 1916, but her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, was bored by the proceedings. He walked out into a cigar store and spent the afternoon gazing at near-by skyscrapers.

Miss Mary, as her lawyer called her, looked Mrs. Wilkenson straight in the eye and denied having told her in 1913 that she was distressed over business affairs. She also denied that she engaged her at 10 per cent commission to get offers from other producers so Adolphe Zukor would be the increasing to $2,000 a week salary she then received.

Mrs. Wilkenson is suing the movie queen for $180,000 she claims is due her for having Miss Pickford's pay envelope fattened.

"Not then, or ever," was the way Mary put it when asked if she had discussed salaries with the plain-diff in 1916.

Miss Pickford said she had planned early in 1916 to leave Zukor's employ because she was informed that her secretaries had been shoved out of his office into the hall. There were other unpleasant incidents, she added, which moved her to go to Mr. Zukor and asked to be released from her contract.

The news that Mary was going to leave noised about the studio and pretty soon Mrs. Wilkenson came upon the scene. The actress testified. Later Mary admitted, she signed an option with Benjamin B. Hampton, in Mrs. Wilkenson's office, but only after he had promised to tear it up if O'Brien was dissatisfied with it.

Describing this scene, Mary's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, who testified earlier in the day, said she asked Mrs. Wilkenson at the time "where she came in on this." She quoted the agent as having replied: "I don't want a thing but the pleasure of having the contract."

signed in my office; it will help me they still do. Mrs. Pickford in a business way. The mother testified that Wilkenson had asked Pickford to raise Mary from $4,000 to $10,000 a week. Today her mother told about the days when Mary got accepted $15 a week. Mrs. Wilkenson told about the days when Mary got accepted $15 a week for her fee after $8 a week as a child actress on the stage. Mother and daughter then split Mary's earnings fifty-fifty and retained, she said.

MCKINLEY SCHOOL GETS PLAYGROUND

BERKELEY, March 1.—Through an exchange of property arranged by Mrs. Frank G. Dods, principal of the parent-teachers' association, the McKinley school will probably be afforded a playground in the immediate future.

Mrs. Dods appeared before the board of education yesterday to withdraw a bid made by her for the old McKinley elementary school building and land on Haste street. She asked that the property be exchanged by the board for land owned by R. A. Cotter, builder and contractor, adjoining the present McKinley building.

Cotter is preparing to move a house on his property, according to statements made by him to the board yesterday, but signified his willingness to co-operate with the parent's association in exchanging his land for the property across the street now owned by the school officials. A valuation of $11,000 is placed on the Cotter holdings or practically the same figure as that of the old McKinley property. That the Cotter property, because of its proximity to the school, affords a better playground site than the land across the street was stated by Mrs. Dods and concurred in by the board.

CHANGE PLANNED IN POPE ELECTION, O'CONNELL TOLD

Pontiff Tells Boston Prelate U. S. to Be Represented at the Next Conclave.

ROME, March 1.—(By The Associated Press.)—All the American cardinals will be present at the next conclave, said Pope Pius during an audience with Cardinal O'Connell of Boston today.

"There will be no more racing five thousand miles in a vain endeavor to reach Rome in time for a conclave," the Pope added. "The United States is too important to be ignored as she has been. I shall see to it that what happened at the last conclave shall not occur again."

The audience with Cardinal O'Connell lasted for an hour, during which the Pope held intimate conversation regarding the American church and the Catholic university.

"The university must be a shrine of learning," he continued. "It is the purpose of the university to mould intellectual leaders and endow them with deep erudition, guided by the principles of faith. It is all right to build great basilicas and great buildings, but the essential thing is to make learning the important aim of all those activities."

The Pope continued: "Oh, what a wonderful country you have. There the church is free, really free, as it is nowhere else. There the government respects religion. Therefore the government has the right to all that religion can give. It is a fair exchange."

"I know, too, how hard the clergy of America work. That is the reason why they have the respect and love of the people."

Cardinal O'Connell then told the Holy Father of the relations between the Catholics and Protestants in America and how both co-operate in the social and economic life. He said that no enmity existed between the members of the two faiths and that when a good and noble work was to be done both united for the common good.

MOTHERS CLUBS' LEADERS HONORED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—The parent-teacher organizations of California, contributed approximately $300,000 worth of clothing and supplies to the students and schools of the State last year, according to reports presented yesterday at a Founder's Day program in the Board of Works Chamber, City Hall.

The ceremonies celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the National Congress of Mothers. Letters commending the movement were read from Governor Stephens, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood, Mayor Rolph and the Board of Education.

Speakers were: Mrs. D. O. Meare, Mrs. A. Hamilton of Pasadena and Mrs. H. B. Farnsworth, national officers. Past presidents of San Francisco Federation of Mothers' Clubs were honored. Mrs. George Harris, president, presided.

TWO DEAD, FOUR OVERCOME IN GAS CHAMBER ON SHIP

Vessel at Dock in S. F. Is Fumigated and Crew Trapped in Hold; Rescued.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Two sailors, members of the crew of the Australian liner Tahiti, moored at pier 33, are dead today and four others one of whom may die, are suffering from partial asphyxiation, as a result of inhaling cyanide gas, used in fumigating the ship yesterday.

DEAD.
JOHN NEWTON, ship's carpenter. LAWRENCE FAUCHELL, one of the five members of the crew who tried to rescue Newton.

OVERCOME.
Donald McDonald, first officer; recovering. George Archibald, seaman; condition serious. James Lyman, seaman; recovering. Jack Norris, seaman; recovering.

The surviving members today told details of a fight to get to the upper decks and safety when they discovered that they were trapped in the gas-filled hold, and of a heroic attempt by Fauchell to rescue Newton.

Captain John Kearney of the fire boat Dennis Sullivan, personally went into the hold and was temporarily overcome while making lines fast to the bodies of the unconscious sailors.

According to Captain J. F. Brown, master of the vessel, medical men of the customs department boarded the ship at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and placed their pots of burning cyanide. At 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon they again boarded the vessel, he said, and declared it to be out of quarantine.

Shortly afterward Newton went into hold No. 1 to make minor repairs and was overcome. His means attracted other members of the crew, who rushed in the dark hold and attempted to drag him out, but were overcome. First Officer McDonald descended into the pit twice before he was overcome. An alarm brought the fire tug. His face enveloped in

Hungry War Hero Puts on Uniform, Cuts His Throat

Dressed in the uniform which he wore when he was discharged from the service, following the world war, Peter Lafek, 40 years old, residing at 2384 Thirty-eighth avenue, today slashed his throat with a razor and is at the Emergency hospital, where little hope is held out for his recovery.

Despondent because he was unable to find employment, and racked with hunger that came when he was unable to obtain food, Lafek complained today to friends that he "was about through."

Later he was found in his room in a dying condition. In his hand was a razor, grim evidence of how he decided to die rather than face hunger. He was taken to the Emergency hospital, where every effort is being made to save his life.

Search of his room disclosed a few old clothes, worn to shreds. He had evidently discarded them in favor of the uniform, which served better to keep out the cold.

Little is known of the man other than that he served overseas and was gassed. The Oakland Post of the American Legion is arranging to care for him.

NATIONAL GUARD TO BE INSPECTED TOMORROW NIGHT

Eastbay Units to Be Reviewed at Auditorium by Regular Army Officers.

The annual inspection by the War Department of the National Guard units of Oakland, Berkeley and Livermore will take place at the Municipal Auditorium tomorrow evening. Officers of the regular army will conduct the inspection. Two of the units which will be reviewed will be Batteries A and B of Oakland, the two first National Guard units to be organized in the Eastbay district since the war, and which were cited by inspecting officers last summer at Camp Lewis, Washington, following the annual maneuvers as the most proficient artillery units in the National Guard of the Ninth Corps Area.

Eleanor H. Porter has not written a more charming short story than "The Glory and the Sacrifice," which will appear in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

DOCTORS MADE IT FAMOUS

Gude's Pepto-Manganin Has Been Prescribed by Physicians for Thirty Years.

Doctors wanted iron in a form easily absorbed into the blood and was one of them, Dr. A. Gude, who found the way to give it. It is now sold by druggists everywhere—almost every druggist in the United States has Gude's Pepto-Manganin in both liquid and tablet form. Doctors everywhere advise weak and run-down people to build up with this splendid tonic. It puts color into the cheeks and increases strength and vitality by making the blood rich and red, and that is the only true and sure way to keep well. If you are all out and nervous and feel half sick and "cross," take Gude's Pepto-Manganin for a few weeks at meal time and you will feel like a new being. It is a wonderful tonic, and you will be delighted with the results.—Advertisement.

Dandruff Surely Destroys the Hair

Girls—If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon, apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

False Alarm Given By Note in Bottle

A note in a milk bottle which was found floating in the estuary caused police inspectors several hours of useless work looking for a man who was supposed to be held a prisoner on the steamship Nome City.

Nody Duffy, who lives at 604 Fifth street, found the note. It read: "I am held a captive on the steamship Nome City. Send help, for God's sake." The note was signed Morillo.

The note also stated that the captive was taken prisoner at Grays City. The officers were told by First Mate Flaherty that the boat did not stop at Grays City. He told the officers that they picked up two unknown Mexican lumber handlers on their way down from the north, and suspects that they may know something of the note.

Allied Professions—Medicine and Plumbing
The Doctor's Business Is to Cure, The Plumber's to Prevent, Disease

Modern plumbing is essential to the health of any community. Scientists and physicians are authority for this. The plumber has more to do with improving sanitation than any other individual. His job is to better living conditions, wherever he works. Your doctor demands hot water, and plenty of it, when he enters the sickroom. He advises safe disposal of refuse and the sickroom's soiled materials. You heed your doctor's advice without question. You know what he urges is safest to follow! Why not follow it in advance of sickness? On sanitation, both your doctor and the plumber agree!

Sanitary plumbing supplies your home and community with means to safeguard health. Where the doctor MAY cure, sanitary plumbing prevents disease. Much of the important work of plumbing is underground, or inside of walls and floors, hidden from sight. The equipment installed is given little care and much use. Neither doctor nor plumber can do good work without your interested and intelligent co-operation. Neither can work "miracles!" Both are often needed in a hurry! Both give much service for which they receive little, if any, pay! Both do much to make your life more healthful, more enjoyable, more livable. Both are entitled to your respect and confidence.

You know the tragic cost of illness in your home and your community. Epidemics have taken heavy toll of life. Much of this might have been prevented had sanitary conditions been more carefully considered.

You know disease cannot gain a sure foothold where there is proper disposal of household waste products. In all epidemics stress is laid upon proper sanitation and hygiene as a preventive measure.

Resistance to disease is strengthened by personal cleanliness. The plumber's work protects your health—and the health of those near and dear to you. Every modern installation made in your community adds to the protection.

Above all, your own dwelling should be provided with modern, sanitary plumbing equipment!

Garden Fete To Be Given In Hume Estate

The advent of spring and Easter-tide bring to mind the wonderful gardens in the Eastbay and Piedmont hills, a number of which will be selected when in the height of their bloom as the background for garden fetes, which each season are the medium for raising funds for charities and other benevolent work. One of the first of these is the outdoor fete which the Junior Branch, or Levee, which they are known, of the Baby Hospital, will give Saturday, April 23, in the spacious gardens surrounding the Charles Edward Hume home in Piedmont.

The funds raised thereby are to be used for the erection of a new clinic adjoining the Baby Hospital, upon which there are such heavy demands this year that new quarters are essential.

Already the Juniors are responsible for the spacious new gymnasium that is about completed wherein the children may play upon a rainy day, and through their exercises become robust children. Regular meetings are held by the members who are the children of the elder members of the Baby Hospital Association.

The second dance of the season of the Quentian Assembly will be given Saturday evening at the Home Club in this city. The personnel of the club includes about forty couples of the younger married set.

A Home Recipe for Gray Hair

Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately made black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the use of the following remedy that you can make at home:

Merely get a box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs very little and no extras to buy. Dissolve it in 2 oz. of distilled or rain water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for use and a $100.00 gold bond come in each box, guaranteeing the user that Orlex powder does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, aniline, coal tar products or their derivatives.

It is safe, does not rub off, is not sticky or gummy and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—Advertisement.

CLASH, APOLOGY FEATURE MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD

Berkeley Officials Row Over Paying Bills for New High Building in City.

BERKELEY, March 1.—A clash between Director Carl Bartlett and Architect William C. Hays, with a demand for an apology made by the latter and subsequent peace overtures marked yesterday's meeting of the Board of Education.

Statements made by Director Bartlett which caused Hays to ask that he apologize were brought forth in an argument over the payment of a $1000 still due A. R. Knowles, contractor, for work at the new high school building. Bartlett declared that J. P. Michelson, the board's building representative had stated at a previous meeting that Knowles had violated terms of the contract in that he failed to place plaster back of the blackboards at the high school as called for by the specifications.

Hays declared that the inclusion of plaster was a mistake and that modern blackboards called for wooden backings. He said that the plaster provision was taken from all specifications except the one that Knowles signed and declared that neither Knowles nor any other of the contractors had included the cost of plaster in their bids.

President W. B. Herms of the board sought to smooth matters out. "All that Mr. Hays wants is authority to decide the justice of the claim," he told the board.

"I don't doubt that he does," flashed back Director Bartlett.

It was then that Hays flared up. "Don't you think that you owe me an apology for that statement?" he demanded of the director.

"I mean what I said," answered Bartlett. "I don't doubt for a minute but you would like to settle this matter in your own way. I am ready to take Mr. Michelson's word; if he says the claim should be paid I'm willing to pay it." Michelson was

Thousands Attend Mardi Gras to Aid Hospital Fund

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—The thousands who attended the annual Mardi Gras at the municipal auditorium last night today have the realization of having witnessed and participated in one of the most spectacular and colorful social affairs ever held in the city. The proceeds from the affair are to be used for the benefit of the Children's hospital.

Although starting early in the evening the formal part of the program did not take place until some time later and dawn found many of the revelers homeward bound.

The usual custom of opening the ball with a grand march, led by the queen, was abandoned this year. Instead a tableaux was staged.

QUEEN INTRODUCED.

The tableaux served to introduce Queen Scherezade, impersonated by Mrs. Richard McCreery and Sultan Shahriyar, impersonated by Clarence Folliot, to their subjects. Scores of beautifully dressed men and women participated in the tableaux. It was described as being one of the most unique and esthetic spectacles ever presented at a Mardi Gras.

Aside from the thousands who, fully costumed, participated in the Mardi Gras the special boxes provided for spectators were crowded.

Jungleland, a cabaret, provided one of the best entertainment features of the evening. It commenced early in the evening and concluded early in the morning and during its progress was thronged by hundreds of patrons.

MANY DINNER PARTIES.

Dancers, singers, vaudeville acts and other features provided special entertainment.

Prior to the formal opening of the ball the hotels were crowded and bell system from the office of Principal C. L. Bledensbach to the business office of the high school.

When Director Carrie Gibbs moved that the change be made Director Bartlett and guests.

"Why should the board spend $350 of the people's money because someone made a mistake?" he demanded.

Thousand Oaks Is Limited to Families

BERKELEY, March 1.—All of Thousand Oaks, with the exception of Solano avenue, has been placed in Class one under the Berkeley Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance, as the result of action taken yesterday by the city council following petitions presented by property owners in the exclusive residential region. The classification bars everything but single-family dwellings. The problem of classifying Solano avenue, which is now devoted partly to business structures, will be taken up by the council at a later date.

Boston Laborers Dig Up 50-Year Old Booze Cache

BOSTON, Mass., March 1.—Workmen excavating just across Tremont street from the old Granary burying ground, where repose the bones of Paul Revere and other New England forefathers, set up a cry of buried treasure.

They had turned up a fifty-year-old cache of liquor, said to have been stowed away at the time of the great Boston fire in 1872.

It consisted of two hoghead of old New England rum and a quantity of Madeira wine, Thorndyke rye, champagne, gin and other rare liquors.

In the confusion that followed, the liquor disappeared mysteriously. The diggers said pedestrians got most of it, although a spirit of gaiety and good cheer was said to have prevailed on the workers the rest of the day.

by a man equally well armed, raided a store in the village of Canillus, near Syracuse, early today, and in the residential section of Syracuse engaged in a running gun battle with the police which ended in the arrest of the girl and the escape of her comrade.

The girl said she was Myrtle Bates, 22. According to the story of Ernest Monahan, taxi driver, the girl and the man entered his car in the center of Syracuse and ordered him to drive to Canillus. The girl covered the driver. At Canillus Benjamin Hart, grocer, was shot and seriously wounded.

Returning to Syracuse the taxi was trapped by seven patrolmen. Firing her rifle and pistol, the girl covered her comrade's escape. She refused to give the man's name.

CHICAGO SLAYER TO HANG FRIDAY

CHICAGO, March 1.—Harvey W. Church, condemned to die for the murder of two automobile salesmen here, and in a state of semi-coma as the result of attempted starvation to cheat the gallows, will be hanged at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Sheriff Charles W. Peters has announced. Daybreak is the customary time for executions, but on account of Church's condition the delay until afternoon will mean nothing to him, the sheriff believes.

The afternoon execution will be more convenient for the witnesses and jury of doctors who must attend, county officials explain. A Supreme Court order or executive clemency is all that can stay the execution.

All are Germans, excepting the smallest, 2 feet 7 inches tall, who comes from Scotland.

The Electrical "How" —for The Householder

EVERYBODY knows what electricity means to modern living. Yet most people have positively failed to get the full value of electrical service.

—Failed because they have not realized the importance of the original installation.

Most housewives have been too easily satisfied. They push the button, see the lights come on and think they are getting electrical service. They disregard workmanship, materials and the completeness of the installation upon which depends all future service.

The time to think about your electrical service is when you build, buy or rent a house. Be sure then that the contractor who makes the installation works on the following principles: (A.) To employ good workmanship. (B.) To use none but standard materials. (C.) To charge fair prices.

A fair price bid is based upon good workmanship and standard materials. When the bid is too low there must be inferior materials and poor workmanship to make up for it.

The difference in the bid of the qualified, responsible electrical contractor and the irresponsible is usually only about one-half of one per cent ($50.00 on a $10,000.00 house).

He who thinks that $50.00 worth saving will eventually spend five times as much in repairing faulty material and workmanship or in stalling additional outlets whose omission made that lower bid possible.

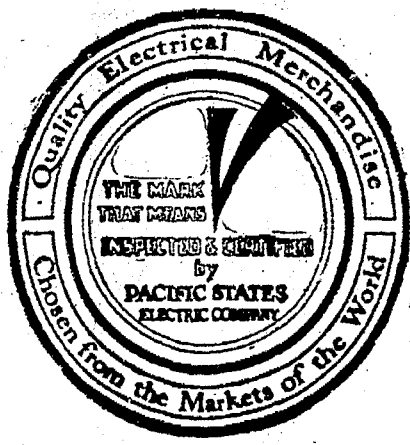

Knowing that the future of the electrical industry depends upon the quality and economy of the service delivered, the Pacific States Electric Company—the largest distributors of electrical materials and appliances on the Pacific Coast—has taken definite steps to safeguard the householder by providing a means of identification for standard electrical merchandise and qualified contractors and dealers.

Every item of installation material and every appliance distributed by the Pacific States Electric Company is inspected and certified by us and bears the seal reproduced below.

These products, chosen from the markets of the world, are nationally advertised and known to be standard. They are guaranteed by such manufacturers as General Electric Company, Edison Electric Appliance Company, and others of equal standing. Finally, they are inspected and identified with our seal as the mark of good faith upon which we have developed our commercial status.

Contractors and dealers of established responsibility and who employ good workmanship can secure the standard material bearing our mark. Hence the Pacific States Electric Company seal helps to identify both qualified, dependable contractors and dealers and the standard electrical merchandise they sell.

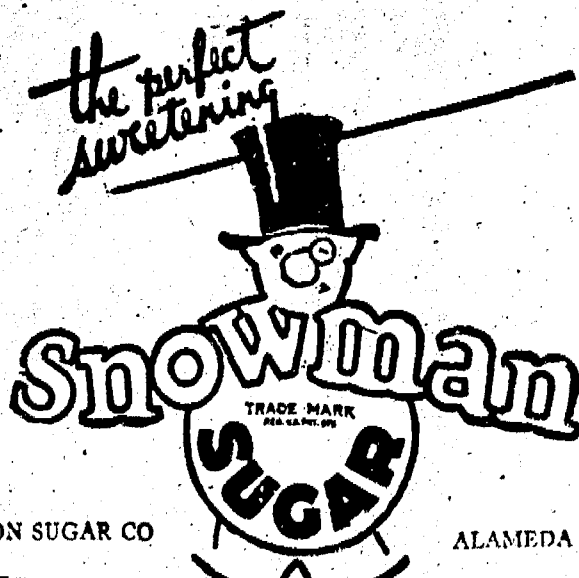

You will enjoy our new booklet which describes how some of these materials and appliances are used in the course of a typical day in an electrified home. It may be obtained free from any electrical contractor or dealer displaying this seal.

NEW SHIP POLICY SUBMITTED.

President Harding's address to Congress on the subject of direct and indirect aid to the American merchant marine, printed in full in yesterday's TRIBUNE, should be read carefully by every citizen, and especially by those citizens who are interested in seeing established, on a permanent foundation of profitable business, a merchant marine flying the American flag. Surely this ought to include all citizens.

The President outlines a shipping policy for the nation. It is not new or revolutionary in the history of mercantile marines as viewed by other nations. Some of its features have before been discussed with much seriousness in this country. But in its comprehensiveness and details it is new to this government. It demands instant and serious attention by both Congress and the general public because it is enunciated at a time when something must be done or the opportunity to preserve a great and adequate merchant marine will pass for a long time, if not forever.

The proposals of the President conform throughout to the forecasts of the main features of the policy heretofore printed in these columns.
They contemplate that the shipping board shall sell to private interests, for operation under the American flag, the vessels now owned by the government; the establishment of a fund of $125,000,000 from which money may be loaned to shipbuilders at two percent interest; a reduction of income taxes of operating companies in an amount equal to five percent of the value of the goods carried, and the waiver of all income taxes when the amount of the taxes is to be applied to new construction; fifty percent of all immigrants coming to this country shall travel in American ships; all government transportation be done in American ships; extension of coastwise shipping laws to the Philippine Islands and that ten percent of all customs duties be devoted to a revolving fund from which aid is to be drawn.

It is proposed that direct government aid will be withheld when operating companies are earning more than ten percent profit and that when government aid has been extended all net earnings over ten percent shall be turned over to the government.
As the President emphasized the amount of the proposed government assistance, even if none of it is returned, will be less than the amount of the deficit now sustained by the government in the operation of its ships. Moreover, the adoption of this policy will insure better terms for the disposal of the government ships and will mean that they will be operated for carrying American commodities of foreign trade instead of lying idle.

There will be opposition to this policy being adopted by Congress. Much of it will be partisan, some of it will come from the senators of negation and obstruction. But it is necessary for Congress and the country to view the suggestion of government subsidies for American ships, not as it has been presented in the past —as a proposal to encourage the upbuilding of a merchant marine—but as a necessary step to prevent the loss of a great merchant fleet already in existence and the loss of America's position as one of the principal carrying nations engaged in world trade.

Congress will at once take up the consideration of the President's recommendations. The majority in both houses will try to expedite final action. It remains to be seen how much delay the obstructionists are capable of.

RESTORING POLITICAL EGYPT.

Reformation of British imperial policy is manifested again in the announcement by Mr.
David Lloyd George of the new program of the home government for Egypt. The Egyptians are to be permitted again to constitute themselves a sovereign state, with a few mild limitations which it observed will work for the best interest of their country.

The new program is something of a surprise, following as it does upon prolonged turmoil by the anti-British factions. Great Britain is to abolish martial law and turn over the government to a native organization as soon as an agreement is reached for the security of the communications of the empire in Egypt, for the defense by Britain of Egypt against foreign aggression or interference, and for the protection of foreign interests and minorities.

These are only provisions for the stability of the Egyptian state. It is now possible for Egyptians to make another trial at self-government. They have failed in the past, pathetically and destructively. Their fatal weakness has been in fiscal matters and in the apparent incapacity of majority government to deal justly with minorities and of minorities to acquiesce in the control of the majority.

What is proposed now is a status not substantially dissimilar to that which has existed between the United States and Cuba since the Spanish-American war. The Egyptians may fail to conduct effective government and to steer clear of economical shoals, just as the Cubans have failed upon occasions. Great Britain proposed to reserve the privilege and opportunity to intercede should Egypt again become distressed.

It is a procedure which does not satisfy the single track idealists on the independence of peoples, but it is a necessary procedure in connection with backward peoples as yet unable to keep out of the clutches of their own vices and frailties.

THAT SENATE OLIGARCHY.

It will be recalled that in the fall of 1920,
when the Democratic spellbinders were ringing the welkin, their high, low and middle note was to the effect that if Mr. Harding was elected it would mean a representative of the "Senate oligarchy" in the Presidency. Mr. Mark Sullivan, a political writer of independent expression, sums up in the North American Review, the result of the first year of Mr. Harding in this succinct manner:

"Within a very short time after Mr. Harding took office, it was apparent that the center, both of power and of public attention, was in the White House and not in the Senate. This was due partly to President Harding's own sense of the dignity and responsibility of his office, together with a firmness of character which expressed itself not at all in bullying the Senate, nor in driving it, nor even leading it, but rather in a quiet and steady devotion to the responsibilities laid upon his own office by the Constitution. Further than that, it developed not only that the occupant of the White House was a man of strength and firmness, but also that those Republican Senate leaders who might have been expected to compose the 'oligarchy,' if there was to be one, turned out, under the conditions existing, to have less rather than more of the strength and prestige ordinarily associated with Senate leadership."

This expresses just about what the country has been conscious of for some time. If there was such a thing as a Senate oligarchy, it got its power as much from the ubiquitous tactics of Mr. Wilson as it did from a native ability of its own. President Harding has taken half of the power from any Senate clique by adopting tactics different from those of his predecessor. Having lost the quality of coherence resulting from continual war with Mr. Wilson, the Senate "oligarchy," if such there was, fell short upon the necessity of showing the quality of leadership.

And the Senate found that to originate and maintain leadership of a positive kind, unnourished by ill-tempered opposition, was not an easy task. In fact, there has been much floundering in the search for leadership. It cannot yet be said that such a thing exists. If it does it lacks the power of direction which is supposed to abide with an oligarchy.

AFTER DINNER SPEECHES.

As to Senator Reed's criticism of Colonel George Harvey, the American ambassador to Great Britain, we dismiss them as being the outbreak of an ingrown dislike for an act of an official of the present administration. But there is one censure of the redoubtable colonel which seems well-founded.

The London Evening Standard says: "Ambassador Harvey spoke too long and lost the
Harvey was addressing the annual banquet of the Pilgrim Society and he spoke for forty-five minutes.

Anyone who goes to a banquet as one of a half dozen or more speakers and talks for forty-five minutes must of necessity hold a higher regard for his views and his talent of delivery than he may expect from any of his hearers. It is entirely too long for a speaker to inflict himself upon friend or enemy. Mr. Arthur Balfour only took fifteen minutes, and that is recommended as the maximum time for an after dinner speaker to consume—not the minimum.

The woman suffrage amendment to the federal constitution has been declared constitutional by the Supreme Court. There may be hereafter a few individuals to question the wisdom of acknowledging the right of women to the ballot, but none may challenge the integrity of the law which guarantees that right.

Parfinkel Reports.
It has been weeks since we last heard from Parfinkel. A letter today explains the silence.

"I have been waiting the opportunity," he writes, "to make a firsthand investigation into the sanity of the March hare. Early this morning, I went up in the hills to be present when the sun came up to make the hare rise. I saw the March hare and interviewed him.
There is no longer room for controversy."

"Are you the March hare?" Par-finkel asked of a jackrabbit, who had been asked to the sward.

"Have you the calendar?" the animal replied and Parfinkel, with a pocket calendar pointed out the fact that the month had slipped in over night.
"Then I am a March hare," the rabbit acknowledged sadly. "I am a mad, raving, insane, driving March hare. Had you not come up here with your fool questions and your dinky calendar I could have been happy. Make room, make room. I've gotta be mad."

"But why?" Parfinkel persisted.
"Should you rave if you do not wish to be calm, my young friend?"
The rabbit looked at the man with disgust. "You should know," he said, "unless you are looney, too, that there is very little difference between a rabbit and a habit—a mere matter of spelling. For me to be mad is wished on by tradition and convention, just as you must wear a starched collar or draw pictures when you telephone. Someone has to express the community madness of spring, someone has to dance the steps the nation holds in business trend. I am the safety valve of lunacy, the only expression of free thought and unreined imagination.
I am the March hare, the mad busy to do all of the world's cavorting before the month rolls out."

NOTES and COMMENT

Kenesaw Mountain Landis' resignation of the judgeship which he held long and speculatively will go hard with certain Senatorial dissidents. They might have kept on sounding the tocsin had he resigned the baseball job, but having thrown up the official position, opportunity for further meddling is curtailed.

An author predicts that the serious drama is now to have an inning. It is the serious drama's turn, certain enough. There has been a weird era at the theater. The gamut has been run from the reasonably cute to the hysterically absurd, until the tired theater-goer has turned in disgust.
Dramas with a stern aim, conceived in sense, with all of those particu-

such a considerable change that they could hardly be otherwise than attractive.

No impending marriage in modern that of Princess Mary. Naturally her that the home-grown product is to be substituted; and in this democratic country, where one person is theoretically as good as another but whose favored daughters are susceptible to foreign titles, the interest doesn't abate. The augury seems favorable, withal, and the good wishes of Americans will mingle with those of her own peoples for her future happi-

DO YOUR HEALTH

Why Real Food Knowledge
Will Help to Prevent Disease
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

Undoubtedly food of the right sort, properly selected for your body needs and temperately consumed, bears a more direct relationship to the prevention of disease than almost any other single factor in human experience.

A similar opinion has been expressed to me many times by a remarkable young man, Mr. Ole Salthe, who stands at the head of the Bureau of Foods in the New York City Health Department. He says his bureau is "wrongly named," that it should be called "The Bureau for the Prevention of Disease."

When once the importance of food values and of right eating have been thoroughly taught to every pupil in the public schools we are sure to see a difference in the prevalence of disease. Bright's disease, diabetes, hardening of the arteries, asthma, skin diseases of various types and other chronic disabilities will disappear when knowledge concerning foods is widespread and its application is unlimited.

There can be no doubt that the universal teaching of physiology and hygiene in the public schools will promote health. When the functions of the various organs are understood, there will be less misuse of them. Then the informed person can establish his own food program and safely make for himself a daily menu.

Study of physiology will make clear why deep breathing is essential to digestion. Common sense in the use of the lungs is just as necessary as the choice of food. No matter what food is taken, it is of no value unless the lungs furnish oxygen enough to consume it.

Knowledge teaches the value of exercise, too, as a factor in digestion.
Common-sense application of suitable exercise, added to proper table practices and deep breathing will promote your health and increase your years.

It should be the aim of every community to make its sick list and death rate as low as is humanly possible. Every citizen should be a committee of one to assist the authorities in their endeavor to promote the public health. Unwise efforts, no matter how well-intentioned, will do harm rather than good. The first essential to usefulness is accurate information.

Suppose you take upon your shoulders the responsibility of keeping yourself and your own household free from disease. You can do this when you have learned about foods and about the proper treatment of the body which is to receive them.
When all the members of society have acquired this information disease will be prevented and the span of life materially increased.

FUNDS FOR IDLE STILL COMING IN

The citizens' emergency employment and relief committee fund is being gradually swelled by funds which are coming in advance of the "1 per cent" drive which opens at noon on Friday with a luncheon at the Hotel Oakland. Several more donations reached the committee today.

The Oakland baseball club today, at the suggestion of Cal Ewing, sent in a check sufficient to purchase 17 dozen suits of underwear for children, while the Elks, from a recent minstrel show, have sent two truck loads of clothing to the headquarters. Some inquiries have been made as to the financing of the citizens' emergency employment and relief committee. There is but a slight overhead expense in the maintenance of the committee. This overhead is paid by the luncheon clubs. The chairman receives no salary and the other salaries are not paid from contributed money, it is stated.

The "1 per cent" luncheon Friday will be attended by workers now being organized into teams with leaders. The personnel is being drawn from the luncheon clubs and other civic organizations. Each worker is asked to volunteer to pay 1 per cent of his or her wages into the relief fund.

As our expert's time is limited and his engagement book is being rapidly filled, we suggest that those who wish to avail themselves of his services, make immediate application at one of the Chinn-Beretta stores for an appointment on one of the following dates:

Mills Students Will Enact 'Girl of Today' At Pageant for Endowment Fund Saturday

Mills College students will contribute the final episode, "The Girl of Today," in the college endowment fund benefit, "The Vision of Fair Women," in the Municipal Opera House on Saturday. (Left to right) GWENDOLYN WITHERSPOON, RUTH WILLIAMS, CATHERINE TILDEN, AMY CRUPE.

"Vision of Fair Women" Will Be Presented on Stage of Municipal Auditorium.

"The Girl of Today" will lend herself to one of the striking episodes in "The Vision of Fair Women," the period costume festival to be presented in the Municipal Opera House on Saturday afternoon and evening for the benefit of the Mills College Endowment Fund. Three hundred students are rehearsing for the solo, group and ensemble numbers which will bring the pageant to its brilliant finale.

All phases of modern college life will be represented in the Mills section. Athletic girls with hockey sticks and canoe paddles have been recruited among the freshmen. Social life, and artistic achievement affords opportunity to the sophomores and juniors, while seniors in cap and gown will present the academic.

The costume festival will review the vanities and fashions of women from the days of early Egyptian to the girl of today. Rich costumes and rare jewels, dance, music, drama, color and light will contribute to the spectacle in which more than 700 of the most beautiful women about the Bay will participate. Mills Club of Alameda County is sponsoring the event.

A rehearsal with the orchestra is announced for 2 p. m. in the Municipal Opera House. A dress rehearsal will be held Friday.

Mills students have joined the women of the smart set and clubs in boosting the Endowment Fund, their commercial projects to add materially to the treasury, which will secure the $350,000 gift from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Shoe shining, shampooing, typing, mending, dressmaking, juneau driving, are regularly accepted college ventures. A Flower Fragrant Shop for the sale of perfumes, creams, and powders is a source of revenue. The basement of Olney Hall was whitewashed by the students for the Endowment Fund. A senior took the novel method of raffling a box of chocolates presented by a suitor as her contribution to the general fund. A Senior Orpheum on March 21, and a for Endowment by the girls.

PROFESSOR TELLS OF ARMS PARLEY

BERKELEY, March 1.—The disarmament conference has not eliminated the possibility of war but has established a truce for ten years at least according to Professor E. T. Williams of the university, who has just returned from Washington, D. C., where he acted as an advisor on Oriental affairs at the meeting in the national capital.

Concerning the conference Professor Williams says: "The attempt on the part of the nations to settle the Near East question at the conference has greatly lessened the immediate danger of war arising from that source. Japan's willingness to co-operate with the other powers in matters relating to China has created a more friendly attitude toward her."

Regents Hear Protests on Canyon Site for Stadium

BERKELEY, March 1.—Protests of property owners and university professors opposing the selection of the Strawberry Canyon site for the stadium were heard this afternoon by the regents committee on grounds and buildings at a special session in San Francisco.

Dr. Earl M. Wilbur, president of the Pacific Unitarian divinity school and chairman of the Campus Protective association, opposing the canyon site, and Walter Steilberg, well known Berkeley architect, presented the arguments of the protesters. That the objections of the property owners are based on an ignorance of the stadium plans was reiterated today by Comptroller Robert Sprout, who declared that names are being withdrawn from the protest as soon as definite details were learned.

WALLS OBJECTED TO. Property owners declare in answer to Sprout's statements that the plans as published by the regents call for a concrete wall which will rise 45 feet in height above the walls of the canyon. These plans, they point out, have been carefully checked by architects and they say should they be carried out an unsightly wall towering above surrounding trees now bordering the canyon will be the result.

So incensed are property owners that great signs have been placed at the entrances to Strawberry canyon.

SIGNS LACK BEAUTY. Admitting that the signs lack beauty, the residents nevertheless declare that every possible step will be taken to impress upon their neighbors that the stadium would be a detriment to the vicinity. Old cloth posters, lettered in black, and wooden signs have been given prominent places calling attention to the proximity of the site. One sign, posted on the side of a private garage reads "The Stadium will Tower Forty Feet Above this Building."

In the meantime a special meeting of the academic senate will be held by university faculty members to consider the resignation of Professor C. H. Rieber and to discuss the entire stadium question. The resignation of the philosophy department head will be officially taken up by the regents at their next regular meeting on March 4.

Council to Frame Rules for Boarders

BERKELEY, March 1.—To formulate rules of conduct for girls living in boarding houses at the university, a council has been organized and officers elected. Because the boarding houses are not governed by the Pan-Hellenic conference which sets rules for the sororities, the boarding houses have planned to join in a government of their own to function under the new student constitution.

HOLDER'S FAILURE TO ALTER POLICY IS CAUSE OF SUIT

Company Governed by the Wishes of Persons Insured, Court Rules.

A statement was issued today by the Western States Life Insurance Company in San Francisco correcting a report recently given publicly which erroneously credited the company with having refused to pay the beneficiaries of a policy because they had not notified the company of the death of the policy holder.

Mrs. J. W. Wright and her daughter, Miss Helen Hawkins, brought suit against the company in San Francisco, claiming the company had refused to pay them the $5000 insurance left them by Mrs. Wright's son, Lieutenant William Wright, who died last July. Publicity was given to a record of the court proceedings which made it appear the court had sustained the company because it had not received a letter from Mrs. Wright and her daughter notifying the company of Lieutenant Wright's death.

It appears, however, from the court record that Lieutenant Wright had taken out a form of insurance under which his mother and sister would receive $25 a month for twenty years after his death. The only way this could be changed, it was pointed out, was for the policy holder to have written the company notifying it to pay the beneficiaries the insurance in a lump sum.

The beneficiaries of Wright's policy claim that Wright had written the company requesting it to pay his beneficiaries the entire amount of the insurance in one sum, according to a report of the court. The company's statement, it is stated, was not received by the company and that the beneficiaries admitted the policy had not been sent in for the proper endorsement which always must accompany any such change in policy.

Appeal of Suspended Officers Withdrawn

The appeal of Patrolmen Richard Peely, Joseph Phillips and James Riley against their recent ten-day suspension was withdrawn today by Attorney O. D. Hamlin, Jr., who said he had been instructed by those officers to withdraw. The request was complied with.

The men concerned are now back on their beats. The Civil Service Board last night decided that it will attempt with the present two members to reach a verdict in the Petersen case.

Girls! Buttermilk Creates Beauty Overnight

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic, but the most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns out the skin, it actually makes it smoother, more radiant and makes red or rough arms, snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use. After application, the skin actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

It is absolutely harmless and will neither irritate nor stimulate the growth of hair. Within twenty-four hours this wonderful Cream will work a marvelous transformation. It costs small quantity 50-cent at any good drug or toilet goods counter. The directions are simple and it costs so little that any girl or woman can afford it. In addition the manufacturers authorize every druggist to return the purchase money unless the first application shows noticeable improvement, so be sure to try it at our expense. Should you have any difficulty in obtaining this wonderful Cream locally, we will send a full sized package of the Cream free of charge for $1.00. Any case don't hesitate to send 10c (silver or stamps) for generous trial package and convince yourself of their merit. Howard Bros. Company, 24 Main St., San Francisco. All druggists—Advertisement.

The Face in the Mirror

Your face, does it wear the contented expression of good health, or are the features drawn and pallid? The use of that standard remedy, the Face in the Mirror, Ham's Vegetable Compound, will strengthen the nerves and tone up the system to resist that excessive fatigue.—Advertisement.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub Musterole on the Congested Parts

Grippe, "Flu," Pneumonia all start the same way—with a cold. All colds are congestion and Musterole is a simple counter-irritant which brings circulation back to normal and helps prevent serious developments.

Remember that messy old mustard plaster, how it stung and blistered! It did the work all right, but Oh, it was a stern measure! Musterole has all the healing properties of grandmother's pet remedy without the sting and blister.

Made of pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other soothing ingredients, it has been used by physicians for years for treating "Flu," Lumbago, Grippe, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Headache and Pneumonia.

It was used in our training camps during the "Flu" epidemic a few years ago. The Y. M. C. A. sent thousands of jars of Musterole for our soldiers over there.

Eleanor H. Porter has not written a more charming short story than "The Glory and the Sacrifice," which will appear in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

STARLIGHT

Virginia Fairfax, an orphan, rebellious daughter of one of the first families of Virginia, tells her charming story. Naomi Sanderson, of her intense feelings against the rigid sixteenth century code of conduct of her little town, and the tyranny of her grandfather, who adopted her when her parents died, Virginia confesses to Naomi that she intends to run away from home to escape the tyrannical rule of her grandfather and her sympathizing aunt. Virginia died in the night after learning that her real family name is Virginia Winston. Virginia introduced herself to a Mr. Watkins, a famous moving picture star. She is terribly upset when she recalled her conversation with him. Upon reaching Chicago she went with Mrs. Watkins to a hotel. A wealthy woman, planning to impose upon her and left the hotel alone on a shopping tour. A callow youth made advances. She appealed to a policeman, who put her in a taxi to a large department store. Virginia purchased a stunning new suit, hat, shoes and stockings in Chicago and was a picture when the train pulled out for California. Virginia leaves that a young married couple in the seat in front of her are en route for Hollywood and the movies. The bride had been a chorus girl—her husband a newspaper man. Virginia overheard their conversation and is shocked to learn that there are dangers in Alameda just as there are on the stage.

ENGLISH VISITORS.

Oh, how I wanted to know this man and girl who sat in the seat in front of me. I had so many questions I wanted to ask them, but I didn't get a chance to speak to them and they were too much engrossed in each other to notice me.

During the day I learned that Tom, as the little bride called him, was hoping to get a position as a publicity writer at some of the studios which he had written. Neil expected to get a part in a picture with a director with whom she had some slight acquaintance.

"I am so glad I have a nice wardrobe," said Neil. "In pictures, I am told, one needs even more clothes than on the stage. We will get one of those little kitchenette apartments every morning and our dinners if I have time."

"Oh, Neil, dearest, I don't believe that any man has as sweet a wife as you."

I stirred uneasily in my seat. I wished he wouldn't talk that way to her. It made me almost wish I hadn't come. Eddie Montforth had often said to me that I was the sweetest girl in all the world and I remembered the little secret that always warmed my heart as I heard him. Would I ever hear it again? Then a little imp at my ear whispered: "Of course you will hear it again. Don't get chicken-hearted now. You came away because you didn't want to help Aunt Virginia and the servants get interminable dinners and breakfasts for grandfathers. You are going to be a great moving picture actress. Keep that in mind and let nothing deter you from getting there."

I was so interested in the snatches of conversation I heard that I didn't realize I was doing a mean and underhand thing. I had even forgotten that I was hungry and that it was dinner time. I saw Mrs. Watkins came through the car again. "What have you been doing with yourself, Miss Winston? This is the second day out and you haven't been in to see the baby and me once. I really could be angry with you, but instead I am going to ask you to come and sit at my table and talk to me. I am horribly bored with only the nurse for a companion. And besides, I want to show you a real live lord."

"What do you mean, a real live lord?" I asked stupidly. "Why, there is a titled Englishman on the train who is making a leisure tour of the continent. They say he is going to be pronounced to be the wisest and that he has a half dozen polo ponies with him. He has just gone into the diner. Do hurry! Perhaps he will like your looks. Theodore Stratton did, and you certainly look better in these new clothes than in your old ones."

I confess I had a great curiosity to see a real live lord. I had read so much about them, in the old-fashioned novels which were the only books of light literature that grandfathers still kept in their libraries, that I imagined a lord would be nothing else than a Sir Galahad, who went about rescuing beautiful damsels and doing other acts of nobility and courage.

To my surprise, I found that Lord Beauchamp, as I later learned his name, was a tall, lean, blonde man of ordinary appearance, but with kindly eyes and grave mouth. He looked like any ordinary man, but when he spoke he was something other than that. He was a real live lord.

FIVE ARE KILLED, MANY INJURED IN PHILIPPINE QUAKE

Property Loss Heavy When a Severe Upheaval Strikes
City of Cebu.

MANILA, P. I., March 1.—Five persons were killed and many injured by a severe earthquake that shook the city of Cebu and vicinity yesterday. The property damage was heavy.

Advices from Cebu said the concrete walls and corrugated iron roofs of a number of buildings were shaken down. Among the structures badly damaged were the palace of the Catholic bishop and the Catholic convent of Escolotos. It is believed most of the deaths were in the convent and that the dead were all natives.

The city of Cebu, situated in the province of Cebu, has a population of about 75,000. It is the principal hemp shipping point in the Philippines.

Mountain climbing is becoming a subject of keen interest to Californians, with plans maturing for winter climbing of our peaks. How John Muir years ago climbed our mountains and rode down on an avalanche is told by Louis Allen in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

Passion Week Services Planned

Special services will be conducted during Passion Week at some central point in the city according to plans discussed at the meeting of the Oakland Ministers Union at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday noon. A committee was appointed including the Evangelical committee of the union and consisting of Rev. Francis Van Horn, Rev. C. C. Pearson and Rev. W. A. Jackson to discuss the details of the services and features for the week with the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. who will assist in the services, some plans having already been made by the Y. M. C. A.

Rev. John Snape, pastor of the First Baptist church, delivered the address of the day, speaking on "The Changing Leagues of the Ministry." Dr. Snape spoke of the various stages that the young man goes through from the time he enters school to study for the ministry until his old age. In part Dr. Snape said: "The demands of a practical age have increased in many ways the things which a minister must understand and do. The fact that he is a minister does in no way excuse him from performing his conscientious duty of a citizen of the country."

Arrangements for the appointment of a committee which will look into and investigate the appointment of a part-time chaplain for the Arroyo Sanatorium and the County Hospital at San Leandro were made.

She used to stew prunes "after a fashion"

Like so many women who feel that "stewed prunes are stewed prunes and you can't make me believe anything else"—

She would give this familiar household dish scant kitchen attention. Wash them well she would—but soak them so the prunes could get back some of their natural moisture? Well, one did not have time, you see. Or, if she did soak them it would be for only a little while—just a dip in the surf. But, usually, it simmered down to putting prunes in a saucepan, covering with hot water and boiling rapidly until the fruit was tender. Sugar was added at some period during the cooking—it didn't matter much when.

As a result of this painstaking treatment, the prunes would present a pitiable picture indeed. Broken and mushy, there they were swimming around in a thin cloudy juice. They lacked flavor. So, a slice of lemon or a wisp of cinnamon would be added. Still the taste would be "flat," the appearance uninviting. But—

After all, stewed prunes were stewed prunes—what could one expect? One knew, at least, that Friend Husband at breakfast the next morning would grunt, "What!—prunes again!" and then swallow them with good grace as if he felt prunes must serve some wholesome purpose or an Efficient Providence would not provide them. Discriminating Daughter would turn up her youngish nose at the unattractive dish despite Mother's insistence that they were good for her. While Junior, likely as not, would chirp, "I like 'em better raw." . . . This, as we say, was wont to happen in the days when she stewed prunes "after a fashion."

Support Mills College

At the peak of its achievement or on the high road to greater accomplishments?

It rests with the people of the Bay Cities, the State, the West, to say what the present position of Mills College is and what its future situation shall be.

Mills College has risen to the limit of its own strength. Without aid from the outside it must decline, with the deterioration of its overtaxed plant and the loss of its competent, though underpaid, staff. Mills College must have its Endowment Fund to go on.

Mills College, backed by the strength—the money—of the people it serves, will advance from its present high position to still greater heights of service, increasing its enrollment, improving its curricula, raising its standing among the colleges of the world—to the everlasting credit of the people of the West.

Mills College needs our support—and we need Mills College.

MRS. ELVA CAULKINS.

"I have gained thirty pounds since taking Tanlac and never felt better in my life than I do now. Mother says she hasn't seen me looking so well since I was a girl," said Mrs. Elva Caulkins, 303 Blandina St., Utica, N. Y.

"For eighteen long years I suffered from stomach trouble and sluggish liver and during all that time I hardly knew what a well day was. As I almost starved myself trying to avoid indigestion, I fell off until I was hardly more than a shadow, and was so weak I was barely able to drag myself around the house. As a result of my long suffering I became almost a nervous wreck.

"This was the condition I was in when I started taking Tanlac, but today I am strong and well, feeling and looking like a different person from what I did a short time ago. It is no wonder to me that so many people praise Tanlac to the skies."

TAYLOR SLAYING SUSPECTS GIVEN ALL NIGHT GRILL

Mabel Normand Is Questioned
Again; "Confession"
Report Denied

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(By International News Service).—A report that one of the six men arrested on information furnished by Mrs. John Rupp had made a complete confession in connection with the murder of William Desmond Taylor was stiffly denied today by the district attorney's office and Captain Hunter of the bureau of detectives working under the district attorney.

"No such confession has been secured," said Captain Hunter. He added, however, that it was hoped a confession might be obtained before the day passed. Captain David A. Head, head of the homicide squad, and Detective Herman Cline, also of the squad, made specific denials of the alleged confession.

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW. United Press Staff Correspondent. LOS ANGELES, March 1.—Important new developments in the William Desmond Taylor case were indicated today by the activities of detectives who throughout the night conducted a "third degree" with the six men named by Mrs. John Rupp in connection with an alleged plot to "get" the film director.

By UNITED PRESS. LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LOS ANGELES, March 1.—The alleged bootlegging ring now held incommunicado at the Central police station, in connection with the William D. Taylor murder mystery, is the same organization that supplied the liquor for the party at which Mrs. John Rupp told police detectives this afternoon. The woman late today named two leading motion picture actresses as regular purchasers of liquor from the organization. Taylor was said to have been interested in one of the actresses named.

It was known that valuable information touching the murder had been obtained from one of the suspects.

Detective-Sergeant Herman Cline, head of the homicide squad, was working on an angle of the case which, it was believed, will connect the statements obtained from the police with some of the previous clues in the murder mystery.

Pursuing this new angle of the investigation, Cline was in secret conference with Mabel Normand, film star, who was the last friend to see Taylor alive.

Miss Normand, sufficiently recovered from an attack of influenza to make the trip, came to Los Angeles from her home in Atlanta, Ga., and met Detective-Sergeant Cline and Murphy.

Georges Romier, teacher of French, was meanwhile questioned by Detective-Sergeant Cline. He was with Miss Normand the day Taylor was shot.

William East, Walter Kirby, Harry Lynch, George Calvert, John Harty, and yesterday's raid, are held incommunicado at the Central police station.

According to the arresting officers, Mrs. Rupp, who is known also as May Lynch, fell out with Lynch, and for this reason tipped off the police as to the whereabouts of the gang.

MYSTERY ENTERS UPON ITS SECOND MONTH. LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(By International News Service).—Despite developments which served to revive lagging interest in the search for the slayer of William Desmond Taylor, the mysterious murder, on the film director today entered upon its second month unsolved. Police authorities were today in possession of a full statement from Mrs. John Rupp, also known as May Lynch, who yesterday appeared at the Wilshire police station and told a weird story which resulted in the arrest of six, with suspicion of the Taylor murder directed against the film director today entered upon its second month unsolved.

Mrs. Rupp was being held practically incommunicado today, a police guard having been established about her home.

Mrs. Rupp said the bootleggers were "sore" at Taylor because he criticized the last consignment of liquor they delivered to him. They believed there was a possibility the cocktail glasses might prove a valuable piece of evidence.

BIG SUGAR BEET ACREAGE SIGNED UP BY GROWERS

ALVARADO, March 1.—Three thousand acres of land in this vicinity will be planted to sugar beets to fulfill contracts already made this year with the Alameda Sugar Company, it was announced by the company today through H. M. Springer of the local staff.

At least 1500 more acres will be planted to the beet crop, bringing the yield next fall up to normal, it is said.

The announcement by the company has been received with satisfaction by local business men, as it had been predicted at the end of the season last year that few beets would be planted, due to the depression of the sugar market, caused by foreign importations.

The fact that the Fordney tariff bill will probably contain a provision for a high import tax on foreign sugar will bring the local producers a return of 50 cents more per hundred weight and prices for the next crop will be as high as in the past year.

The news that the sugar beet growing industry had revived from its temporary depression has led farmers here to predict a bumper crop, and local climatic conditions are the most favorable in a number of years. The heavy rains have provided sufficient moisture to keep the land from drying before the crop matures, a condition that will affect to great measure the success of the crop.

Husband, 80, Jealous; Wife Given Divorce

Eighty years old and jealous. That is the charge made against Samuel Davis by Mrs. Sara E. Davis in her suit for divorce before Superior Judge T. V. Harris today.

Davis, who was in court, admitted being over 70 years old, and countered his wife's complaint with a charge she had married him for his money. They were married August 30, 1921, and separated on October 25.

Mrs. Davis alleged that Davis would not let her leave the house unless he went with her, and said that one night he became so violent in his charge made against her house in terror, clad only in her night clothes, and was forced to seek refuge with a neighbor.

Judge Harris, after hearing the evidence, declared an annulment of the marriage, and granted Mrs. Davis the divorce asked for.

The resolutions were the outgrowth of a fight on the Sterling-Towner educational bill, providing for a federal department of education, with an office in the cabinet.

The attack on the bill was led by Alexander Inglis, professor of education at Harvard, who branded the measure as "dangerous, unwise, vicious and bad educational and economic policy." Others opposed to the bill were W. E. Jessup, president of the University of Iowa; W. S. Sutton, a member of the faculty of the University of Texas, and D. W. Springer, of the faculty of the University of Michigan.

Waugh asserted that their relations were purely platonic and that his first intimation of the approach to marriage came when he read of it in the newspapers. He said that he caught cold and that when Mrs. Walker told him of her plans he was too ill to interpose any objections.

Mrs. Walker said tonight that the wedding had been postponed from next Monday, the time she had previously set, until some later date.

COURT LOOKS LIKE MEXICO AT STABBING TRIAL

There was an air of Old Mexico about the criminal court today when William Garcia was brought to trial for assault with a deadly weapon. Dark-eyed, swarthy men and women thronged the courtroom, filling every available seat, while a fitting touch was given by the story of the alleged offense.

Garcia is charged with having stabbed Raymond Carrillo on the night of December 12. On that night Garcia was a musician at a dance given at 374 New street and attended solely by Mexicans. During the course of the evening there was drinking, and Garcia, attempting to enter a room where three young women were dancing, was refused entrance and was refused because he spoke English, the men inside demanding he speak Spanish.

Finally, Garcia, who quarreled with Carrillo, who knocked him down. Later in the evening he again quarreled with Carrillo and was again knocked down.

When the dance broke up in the small hours, Garcia is alleged to have summoned his friends, who waited for Carrillo outside the door and seized him as he emerged. Carrillo's friends held Carrillo's hands, it is alleged, Garcia turned Carrillo, spat upon him and finally stabbed him twice. Carrillo was left lying on the ground, bleeding, and was taken to the hospital. He died there.

LYNCH AND MORGAN MEET IN RETURN CONTEST THIS EVENING

FIRST TIE GAME IN EASTBAY BASKETBALL LEAGUE SCHEDULE IS PLAYED AT TECH GYM

FAST FOUR-ROUNDERS TO EXCHANGE BLOWS AT THE AUDITORIUM

Eddie Diggins and Joe Herrera in Special Event; "Swede" Nelson Makes 4-Round Debut

By BOB SHAND.

As a rule it takes the middleweights or heavyweights to attract a full house to the Auditorium boxing matches but tonight a pair of little gents promise to pack the house. Joe Lynch, the sensational San Francisco boy meets Tod Morgan, the Vallejo Flash in a return bout and after the battle they put up last week another thrilling mix-up is looked for. On the strength of a valiant fourth round finish Morgan was given a draw. Tonight he promises to box as fast in every round as he did in that memorable fourth last week and if Tod can stand the pace Mister Lynch should have the busiest evening of his career. However it does not seem possible that Tod can keep up such a terrific pace for a dozen minutes and the bout will no doubt resolve itself into a fast exhibition without either dropping from exhaustion. Lynch is a sturdy little guy who can stand a world of punishment and he showed in the first three rounds of the previous battle that he knows considerably more about boxing than Morgan.

The Morgan adherents claim that the big crowd worried their boy and that he did not show his true form until the fourth round. Tonight they expect him to chase poor little Lynch out of the ring and make him take Lake Merritt in one jump. That's how enthusiastic the Georgia street fans are over their favorite and they will be greatly disappointed if Tod does not knock Joe for a row of buttons. Tod is one of the classiest kids in the four-round ranks and if he gets in tonight he will be one of the best drawing cards in the deck.

Diggins Fighting to Re-establish Himself.

The Middle Diggins-Joe Herrera fight should develop into a fight. Diggins is fighting for recognition after his setback at the hands of Teddy O'Hara and the former Olympian Club boy is going to put everything he has behind his punches. A close decision over the No. 1000 fight will be made. The No. 1000 fight will not do Eddie much good, as Herrera was recently soundly licked by Teddy O'Hara. Diggins knows he will have to win Joe in a hard fought pasting in order to climb back into the good graces of the fans and his manager. Think he can do this. Little thing he is not overworked with instructions before the going rings. Diggins is claiming the lightweight championship of the coast prior to his defeat by O'Hara. Now he will have to lick Herrera and O'Hara before he can claim the honor again. Sailor Walters, a newcomer, will make his debut with Eddie White in the eighth of the social events. The new fighter has a great draw in San Francisco last Friday and Matchmaker Simpson thinks the return match will make his debut a feature of the card. Young Farrell was originally scheduled to meet White, but through a misunderstanding he was also matched to box at Vernon and will fill the southern date.

Rey Kitz, the game middleweight who put up a pair of good fights here, will be paired off with O'Brien. The latter has been in the ring for a long time and is a good boxer. The latter has been in the ring for a long time and is a good boxer. The latter has been in the ring for a long time and is a good boxer.

FINAL CONTEST WITH STANFORD CALLED OFF; FRESHMEN WILL PLAY

By DOUG. MONTELL.

Developments yesterday were few and far between in the present basketball situation, for with the season drawing to a close and the Coast Conference race about run, there remains but the formality of playing the scheduled games. And in some cases even those are not to be played. Stanford yesterday flatly refused to play their third Conference game with California and the tickets that have been sold for the contest booked for the local Auditorium on Friday evening will admit the holders to see the Stanford and California Freshmen battle as a main event instead of as a preliminary as was scheduled.

Coach Wright was ready to discuss the matter yesterday but could add no further light to the situation. On account of having the game booked he kept his first string men from the game with the Olympic Club at California Monday night and the second team took a beating as a result from Joe Ryan's team. And the Olympians were defeated, although there was no one at fault for an attempt was made to communicate with Coach Ryan on Sunday to tell him of the fact but he could not be located. Any way the Olympians won over a team representing California and his boys should have that much satisfaction.

U. S. C. Games May Be Moved Ahead.

In view of the fact that Stanford is through for the season leaves California with an open date this week-end and two other games. It is booked for the following Friday and Saturday in Los Angeles. Coach Wright said yesterday that an effort was being made to have U. S. C. shift the date a week ahead to allow the California team to play in the south this week-end and thus bring their season to a close a week sooner than it would with the present schedule. No word has been received from the University of Idaho and their silence has led the California authorities to believe that they are debating the matter of making the southern trip and are postponing final decision until after their series with Washington State on the 3rd and 4th. It is not regarded as probable that the Vandals will come south, in which event the local fans will have to wait for the last Conference basketball game for the season.

Bear Cubs Out to Win Freshman Title.

The game Friday night between the rival Freshman teams of California and Stanford will be sufficient in the way of basketball to entertain a few of the fans but will not be the LANSING, Mich., March 1.—Holiday bouts of championship caliber will not be permitted anywhere in Michigan, according to Governor Crockett. As a result, there will be no match between Benny Leonard and Charlie White or Frankie Mitchell on July 4, as planned.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Boxing in Illinois will be legalized if petitions being sent out today by the city athletic commission are successful. It is planned to secure over $25,000 names to the petitions.

FIGHT RESULTS.
NEW YORK.—Tarzan Larkin, Minnesota, knocked out Pat Bolger, New York, in the fourth round.
BOSTON.—Nate Siegel won a ten-round decision over Eddie Shevlin, New England, over weight.
YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Danny Frush, New York, knocked out Dick Leonard, Buffalo, in the fourth round.
MIKE MORAN, Pittsburgh, bantam, won a decision from Jack O'Brien, Cleveland.
PHILADELPHIA.—Tommy Loughlin, Philadelphia, outpointed Bryan Downey, Columbus, O., in a ten-round bout.
SHANAGHAN, Pa.—Danny Rogers, Philadelphia, and Bobby Williams, Allentown, fought a ten-round draw.
SEATTLE.—Gordon McKay drew with Heinie Schuman, Tacoma, in twelve rounds.
WATERLOO, Ia.—Navy Rostlan beat Fritz Knipp, ten rounds.
LINCOLN, Neb.—Hugh Walker, Kansas City, and George Lamson, Lincoln, Ind., heavyweights, drew ten rounds. Frankie Dean, Kansas City, won the decision over "Kid" Wieslock, Lincoln, lightweight.
SAN FRANCISCO.—Carlo Giannotti won a four-round decision from Billy Palmer, and Frankie Baker won from Eddie Brown.

Dick Kerr of White Sox Has Rival for 'Wee'

CHICAGO, March 1.—Wee Dicky Kerr, for several years noted as the White Sox "midnight" hurler and promoted from "dunce" to one of the league's "aces" only after he stopped the Cincinnati Reds in two games of the memorable world's series of 1919, bids fair to lose the distinctions of being the smallest man on the team. According to statistics on the thirty-three Sox now doing spring training in Texas, Kerr still will be the team's shortest player by an even inch, but he after pounds more avoirdupois probably will lose to Jose Acosta, Young Cuban hurler, his honor of "wee." Kerr stands 5 feet, six inches, and Acosta 5 feet, 7 inches, but Dicky scales 160 pounds as against Acosta's 145.

The heaviest individual trying for a place on the club is J. D. Thompson, recruit hurler from Victoria, B. C., who has 205 pounds distributed over six feet, 1 inch of frame.

"Shovel" Hodge, who came up a year ago from the Southern Association, is by three inches the longest man on the team, although his six feet, six inches towers but little over the entire pitching staff, eleven of whose 17 members are 6 feet or more tall.

The statistics also indicate the Sox this year will have only one switch hitting regular in the lineup, Ernie Johnson, shortstop. The two others who can face pitchers from either side of the plate are Pitchers Faber and Russell.

Lot Is Found For Staging the Olympic Games

Accommodations for 100,000 Spectators Planned in French Arena.

By International News Service.
PARIS, March 1.—Despite French bureaucracy and red tape a ground has at last been found for the 1924 Olympic games to be staged in France.

The ground chosen, the Parc des Princes, is situated at the very gates of Paris in Boulogne. It is within easy reach of any part of the city by subway, street cars and automobiles.

It is on this ground that all international encounters—whether football, foot racing, in which France participates—are played.

Work to transform the park into a huge stadium capable of holding 100,000 spectators is to be pushed actively ahead and even swimming races will be held there, water being drawn from the River Seine, close at hand. The ground is not marshy and tracks are even now in good condition. The stands, however, leave much to be desired.

There is at present a bill before parliament requesting a grant of 20,000,000 francs to get the ground ready. Of this sum the city of Paris will subsidize half, most of the stands and enclosures will be built of cement and accommodations for the competitors are to be built specially, either in the stadium or close at hand.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The opening of the O. A. L. basketball season scheduled for last week and then postponed until yesterday, was again called off and the Varsity and Fremont high fives will probably have to wait another week to settle their argument. Tech and Oakland will have the honor of opening the season when the rivals meet on Friday at the Oakland Auditorium.

Both squads are possessed of a fifty set of hoop tossers, and the game should prove to be one of the best. The hoop season is getting off to a late start, about two weeks behind regular time and the teams will probably be forced to schedule three frays each week in order to get the season over with. Baseball and track will soon spring into the limelight and two or three sports at the same time will overwork matters.

One lesson the coaches and the recreation department will probably learn is the fact that basketball should get off to an earlier start. By the time the O. A. L. starts the majority of the colleges and other high schools will have ended their season and will turn their attentions to track, baseball and swimming.

In some parts of the country football and basketball reign supreme during the fall term, while in others the athletic dish during the spring semester.

In 1880 the average family in the United States numbered five persons.

BASKETBALL

Two games of the 130-pound division of the Eastbay League were played last night at Oakland Tech and resulted in twin scores being turned in, the first time such a thing has happened in the present Eastbay season. The St. Joseph's Athletic Club scored a win over the Company A. 15th Infantry team, while the Thrasher Parkers beat the Oakland Y. M. C. A. both scores being 40-11.

The games had no effect on the standing of the clubs for the championship, which went to the All Centers, but the win of the St. Joseph's boys about assures them of second place in the league. Mullen was the big star for the St. Joseph's boys with ten field goals for 20 points while Crouther was the leading scorer, another record for the league.

A. Foster and Tillison shared honors in the victory of the Thrasher Parkers over the Oakland Y. M. C. A. A. Foster scored 16 on field goals while Tillison accounted for 12.

The lineups:

Tech Hi Whips St. Mary's Prep Baseball Team

Tech. Pitchers Work in Fine Form to Bring Home Victory.

The Tech high baseball team did the unexpected yesterday on their home grounds when they walloped the St. Mary's prepsters by a score of 8 to 1. The young Saints, feeling strong and fresh as the result of their 7 to 3 victory over Oakland high on Monday, traveled out to the Purple and Gold diamond expecting to add another win to their string of victories, but traveled back to the red brick building a much wiser and sadder bunch. The Techites up-to-date, have set up a fine record of wins in the few practice tilts they have engaged in. Poly high was the first victim to Tech's onslaught by a score of 6 to 0, while Mission, another San Francisco school, was nipped out by a close 4 to 3 score. Now along came St. Mary's high and suffered the same taste of defeat as the two schools from across the pond.

The Techites were only able to lean on the apple for six safeties, but inside baseball and taking advantage of the St. Mary's errors in the pinches helped in putting over the victory.

The score:
St. Mary's High 1
Tech High 8
Technical High 5

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU IS MADE UNIT OF AD. CLUB

Revenue to Be Provided for Permanent Maintenance of Organization.

Reasserting its belief in the Better Business Bureau, the Oakland Advertising club yesterday adopted resolutions fixing a certain revenue for the bureau's maintenance and making it permanent unit of the Advertising club.
The resolution had been passed by the board of directors of the club and the action yesterday of the club itself, which was unanimous, was a ratification of the board's action and was held an expression of confidence in the methods of the bureau.
The adoption of the resolution, after its presentation by Irving Kahn, followed the talks of several persons who have been associated with the bureau in the past. Kahn, as one of the ten members of the bureau who have subscribed to its maintenance, declared that he faced a deficit July 1, and that in order to maintain it it would be necessary to raise funds for its upkeep during the next year. He declared that one of his supporters believed that bureau had developed into such an important branch of the Oakland Advertising club that it could not very well be dropped for lack of funds for its support.

"I believe the bureau is of sufficient value to warrant its maintenance by the Advertising club," he said. "If not, then we who have supported it want to withdraw that support."

PROVIDE APPROPRIATION.

The adoption of the resolution followed, providing an appropriation of 75 per cent of the revenue of the annual Ad Masque ball. The Better Business Bureau will be known as the Better Business Bureau of the Oakland Advertising club, as in the past, but hereafter will be an actual department of the Advertising club, supported financially by the club and governed by a board of directors, of which the president of the Advertising club will be the presiding member.

The first speaker on the program yesterday told of the inception of the local business bureau, which originated some 40 miles south of the California-Oregon line with a party of disgruntled Oakland delegates to a stormy convention of the Advertising clubs of the Pacific coast held at Portland.

The idea was carried to Oakland by the delegates, and the sum of $2000 was subscribed to start it on its way. The club, which was then identified with the Oakland Advertising club was brought down from Sacramento to take over the work.

EVILS ARE CORRECTED.

A. C. Agnew, first attorney for the bureau, related some of the incidents of the bureau's early history. He told of how the investigators discovered a local merchant advertising a fur coat that was apparently not of the quality advertised. In order to make a proper investigation it was necessary to purchase the coat, which was marked at $385. Where to get the money for such an under-pretension, he said, after several meetings the money was raised between individuals, and the coat was purchased. It was found to be dyed muskrat and not genuine seal skin, as advertised. "Luckily," he said, "the merchant saw his mistake and gave back our money."

Another instance related by Agnew was the investigation of a firm of bond brokers who were spreading propaganda intended to depress the value of liberty bonds. Consequently the firm was buying bonds from the poorer class of people for about 50 per cent of their real value. Again the problem of raising funds arose. In order to secure evidence it was necessary to purchase bonds and sell them to the bond firm. This was finally done, but no loss was suffered by the individuals, the firm made good the face value of the bonds and got out of town.
"The Better Business Bureau does not occupy the same category as a policeman," Agnew said. "It is merely a guardian functioning to save the people against their own folly. Investigate before you invest is a good motto."

SQUARE DEAL AS MOTTO.

Agnew declared that the motto "My City Oakland" is a selfish one and should be done away with. "A new motto should be adopted," he said, "which would not be egotistical, but of a broader scope than the present one." He suggested it be "Square Deal—the Town of the Square Deal."

Others who spoke were F. A. Briggs, present chairman of the Better Business Bureau; Harvey Lion, W. J. King and Abe Leach.
Leach, district attorney for the bureau, said in part: "Truth in advertising is the most forward step made by this organization. The Better Business Bureau is a great accomplishment of the Advertising club."

He paid tribute to Charlie Chase in the work he has done in helping to bring about better business conditions in Oakland. He also touched on the present jury system used by the bureau in deciding questions of right and wrong in charges made against individuals.
"In each case," he said, "the man complained against has gone away

Hollywood and Actualities

By LOUIS SHERWIN

Flatbush Attack No More Absurd, Critic Declares

HERE'S a query by Louis Sherwin, noted dramatic critic: "Can you imagine dear old Flatbush or Upper Montclair waking up one morning to find itself infamous all over the land, as a harbor of the seven deadly sins, with every apartment house its own love cult and a hot joint on every other side street? That would not be a lot of more absurd than what has happened to Hollywood and the film industry. This Hollywood that newspapers of America—especially of the Middle West—have been describing as a croch between the angels and the devils, is as quiet, dull, prosaic and I must confess—tiresome a suburb as you could imagine."

There lies the irony of the situation. Hollywood, the worst of that local pride has had to endure was the sneering of Easterners who found the place deadly slow. Today the movie people, Hollywood, in fact all Los Angeles, are mad, fighting mad. Until now, the big fights at Hollywood life and naughty goings on in the movie colony have been passed off as a joke.
But the mess of unsavory actions with which the country has been flooded, as a result of the Taylor murder case, has proved too much. For once the victims are preparing to hit back—and for once I can't blame them. The Taylor case, every body who still flourishes the once flourishing but now obsolete ideal of American liberties must realize that this hysteria of hunting and killing is incalculable value to the cohorts of Puritan venetianism.

REFORM AMMUNITION.

You can bet all your money that Brother Crafts and the rest of the reform camorra are raking in all this ammunition, with rude guffaws. The situation does not affect only the half million people of Los Angeles and a few thousand engaged in the cinema industry. It affects everybody in the United States who does not care to have his reading, theater going, diet and personal habits regulated by the protestant churches. It is not a question of justice for a community and for an industry, which the public at large is inclined to dislike and resent because it is erroneously supposed to be having a better time making more money than the rest of the country; it is a question of your own interest—a question that should appeal to every American.

I would therefore call your attention to certain actualities. Some newspapers have talked about "revelations of depravity among movie people arising out of the Taylor case." The truth is that there have been no revelations. There have been fact along these lines has been unearthed by any reporter. Lacking facts, certain correspondents have broadcast the most incredible farrago of fabrications, innuendoes, generalizations and downright lies.

TO KEEP STORY ALIVE.

The Taylor murder so far is as complete a mystery as you will encounter in American history. In order to keep the story alive, there have been hints of "dope rings," "love cults" and outright accusations of conspiracy of silence among the movie people.
The fact is that Taylor was a gentleman, and a certain type of mind seems not to know that a gentleman does not bandy his private affairs about for gossip. Consequently, very few of his friends let alone his colleagues—knew that his professional name was different from his patronymic. If they had known they would not have thought anything of it as nearly balanced as people in the show business, and a fair percentage of writers, adopt professional names for the most commonplace business reasons. The foregoing will merely illustrate the far-fetched absurdity of the sensational and canards that have been published.

A RESIDENCE DISTRICT.

The truth about Hollywood is so far from the hectic idea that people have conceived of the place that it is almost laughable. It is a residential district, usually a suburb of Los Angeles, with a population of 70,000. Of these only some 20,000 odd are connected with the movies.

Among the things it boasts of are 12,000 homes, 22 churches, a exceptionally large and elaborate high school, the southern branch of the University of California, etc. That will do for the statistics, but I submit they are hardly compatible with the popular idea of drug-ridden Alsatia. You may be loath to believe it, but there is absolutely no night life in the place.

Drive down its main street at 11 p. m. and you will be depressed by its quiet and sleepiness. There is not a single public dance hall, not a single cabaret nor any restaurant with a dance license. Before it became part of Los Angeles, Hollywood was a prohibition town fifteen years ago. There is only one pool room and one bowling alley. The deplorable fact is that night life in Hollywood would make a Sunday afternoon in London look feverish. I ask you in all sincerity, can you imagine such a place as this living up to the wild descriptions that have been sent out?

NOT CITY OF SAINTS.

Of course, I am not trying to suggest that it is a community of plaster saints. Wild parties are given, some not all by movie people, ranging from the home-brew-fest to four-room bungalow to the Scotch and champagne jags in a few of the larger homes. But is it seriously pretended that there are any communal charges in the United States where that sort of thing does not go on to a certain extent? Undoubtedly there are people here who use drugs—where are there not?

But let us look for a moment at the police records. The police captain in charge of the district reports that in the last ten years there has been no murder in Hollywood. Parenthetically, Taylor was killed in the Westlake district of Los Angeles. In the last few months there has been no arrest in Hollywood for prostitution nor for peddling narcotics. In the last five months the Hollywood police have received no complaints from any resident of any wild party being held within the precincts and have been called upon to raid not a single home or apartment. Arrests for felonies average less than three a week with a better understanding of right and wrong business methods.
Kahn, upon presenting the resolution fixing a permanent financial basis upon which the bureau is to operate, said in part: "We have allowed the Better Business Bureau to drift away. We do not want such a thing to happen. The bureau is our one big achievement, and we must hang onto it. We can not adopt it, for at no time have we ever disclaimed it. It has always been attached to this club. Yet we must reassert our belief in the bureau. We must finance it, for a poorly financed bureau is the same as no bureau at all."

HERE'S a query by Louis Sherwin, noted dramatic critic: "Can you imagine dear old Flatbush or Upper Montclair waking up one morning to find itself infamous all over the land, as a harbor of the seven deadly sins, with every apartment house its own love cult and a hot joint on every other side street? That would not be a lot of more absurd than what has happened to Hollywood and the film industry. This Hollywood that newspapers of America—especially of the Middle West—have been describing as a croch between the angels and the devils, is as quiet, dull, prosaic and I must confess—tiresome a suburb as you could imagine."

There lies the irony of the situation. Hollywood, the worst of that local pride has had to endure was the sneering of Easterners who found the place deadly slow. Today the movie people, Hollywood, in fact all Los Angeles, are mad, fighting mad. Until now, the big fights at Hollywood life and naughty goings on in the movie colony have been passed off as a joke.
But the mess of unsavory actions with which the country has been flooded, as a result of the Taylor murder case, has proved too much. For once the victims are preparing to hit back—and for once I can't blame them. The Taylor case, every body who still flourishes the once flourishing but now obsolete ideal of American liberties must realize that this hysteria of hunting and killing is incalculable value to the cohorts of Puritan venetianism.

REFORM AMMUNITION.

You can bet all your money that Brother Crafts and the rest of the reform camorra are raking in all this ammunition, with rude guffaws. The situation does not affect only the half million people of Los Angeles and a few thousand engaged in the cinema industry. It affects everybody in the United States who does not care to have his reading, theater going, diet and personal habits regulated by the protestant churches. It is not a question of justice for a community and for an industry, which the public at large is inclined to dislike and resent because it is erroneously supposed to be having a better time making more money than the rest of the country; it is a question of your own interest—a question that should appeal to every American.

I would therefore call your attention to certain actualities. Some newspapers have talked about "revelations of depravity among movie people arising out of the Taylor case." The truth is that there have been no revelations. There have been fact along these lines has been unearthed by any reporter. Lacking facts, certain correspondents have broadcast the most incredible farrago of fabrications, innuendoes, generalizations and downright lies.

TO KEEP STORY ALIVE.

The Taylor murder so far is as complete a mystery as you will encounter in American history. In order to keep the story alive, there have been hints of "dope rings," "love cults" and outright accusations of conspiracy of silence among the movie people.
The fact is that Taylor was a gentleman, and a certain type of mind seems not to know that a gentleman does not bandy his private affairs about for gossip. Consequently, very few of his friends let alone his colleagues—knew that his professional name was different from his patronymic. If they had known they would not have thought anything of it as nearly balanced as people in the show business, and a fair percentage of writers, adopt professional names for the most commonplace business reasons. The foregoing will merely illustrate the far-fetched absurdity of the sensational and canards that have been published.

A RESIDENCE DISTRICT.

The truth about Hollywood is so far from the hectic idea that people have conceived of the place that it is almost laughable. It is a residential district, usually a suburb of Los Angeles, with a population of 70,000. Of these only some 20,000 odd are connected with the movies.

Among the things it boasts of are 12,000 homes, 22 churches, a exceptionally large and elaborate high school, the southern branch of the University of California, etc. That will do for the statistics, but I submit they are hardly compatible with the popular idea of drug-ridden Alsatia. You may be loath to believe it, but there is absolutely no night life in the place.

Drive down its main street at 11 p. m. and you will be depressed by its quiet and sleepiness. There is not a single public dance hall, not a single cabaret nor any restaurant with a dance license. Before it became part of Los Angeles, Hollywood was a prohibition town fifteen years ago. There is only one pool room and one bowling alley. The deplorable fact is that night life in Hollywood would make a Sunday afternoon in London look feverish. I ask you in all sincerity, can you imagine such a place as this living up to the wild descriptions that have been sent out?

NOT CITY OF SAINTS.

Of course, I am not trying to suggest that it is a community of plaster saints. Wild parties are given, some not all by movie people, ranging from the home-brew-fest to four-room bungalow to the Scotch and champagne jags in a few of the larger homes. But is it seriously pretended that there are any communal charges in the United States where that sort of thing does not go on to a certain extent? Undoubtedly there are people here who use drugs—where are there not?

But let us look for a moment at the police records. The police captain in charge of the district reports that in the last ten years there has been no murder in Hollywood. Parenthetically, Taylor was killed in the Westlake district of Los Angeles. In the last few months there has been no arrest in Hollywood for prostitution nor for peddling narcotics. In the last five months the Hollywood police have received no complaints from any resident of any wild party being held within the precincts and have been called upon to raid not a single home or apartment. Arrests for felonies average less than three a week with a better understanding of right and wrong business methods.
Kahn, upon presenting the resolution fixing a permanent financial basis upon which the bureau is to operate, said in part: "We have allowed the Better Business Bureau to drift away. We do not want such a thing to happen. The bureau is our one big achievement, and we must hang onto it. We can not adopt it, for at no time have we ever disclaimed it. It has always been attached to this club. Yet we must reassert our belief in the bureau. We must finance it, for a poorly financed bureau is the same as no bureau at all."

FEATURES ARE PROMISED FOR WEEK'S PROGRAM

"Christian Responsibility" will be the subject of an address to be given by Rev. Earl P. Cochran, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Alameda, at the Friday Fellowship Luncheon at the Oakland Y. M. C. A. this week.
Special meetings will be held during Passion Week, and it is expected that the association will join with the Y. W. C. A. and the Ministers' Union in presenting a number of special features. Three of the features contemplated are a four-reel motion picture on "Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress," stereopticon views of the "Passion Play of Oberammergau," and a musical program given by the Pomona College Glee club.

Dr. R. T. Sutherland, chairman of the religious work committee, has arranged a calendar of daily devotions during the month of March, which will include the following topics: "The Unemployment Situation," "Association Work Among the Allied Armies," "The Boys and Men," "Members of the Attendance at the Y. M. C. A." Other subjects featuring the association work will also be among the topics.

Take It In Time!
Do you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that is they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change?
Do you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions?
Do you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.
If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety.
The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.
Why not give a fair trial to this medicine.

Grip Left You a Bad Back?
Are you getting over a cold or grip only to find yourself a victim of backache? Are you suffering headaches, too, dizzy spells, a dull, tired, worn-out feeling and annoying kidney irregularities? Then don't delay! Physicians agree that a vast number of the worst cases of kidney trouble are the result of germ diseases. In every infectious disease the system is alive with poisonous germs and bacteria. The kidneys are overwhelmed with the rush of new work; they break down, become congested, inflamed and diseased. Too often the real trouble is lost sight of until some dangerous kidney ailment sets in. If your kidneys are falling behind, don't wait for serious trouble. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills today. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Oakland Folks Found Relief
H. E. GILLEN, 424 Cavour street, says: "I bent over and when I straightened a sharp, knife-like pain struck me in the back and almost took the breath out of me. From then on my kidneys bothered me. Lumbago set in and every muscle of my back ached. Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in fine shape and my cure has been a lasting one."
SEVERAL YEARS LATER, Mr. GilLEN added: "I shall never forget what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me."
MRS. HARRIET FOULKES, 1738 Thirty-fifth Ave., says: "I can give Doan's Kidney Pills the highest praise. I have used them for years. My kidneys were weak and if I overworked or took a cold it settled on my kidneys. Mornings I felt tired and dull and had no energy. My back ached considerably and I often had headaches. The action of my kidneys was irregular. A short use of Doan's Kidney Pills gave me quick relief and strengthened my back and kidneys."
H. E. RILEY, 1474 Twelfth street, says: "My kidneys were in such bad shape I was refused insurance. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and were of a thick cloudy appearance. I became run down and weak. I was examined for life insurance but didn't pass the tests. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of all signs of kidney trouble. I have since passed the most rigid examinations and not a trace of kidney trouble was indicated."

REAL ESTATE

Own Your Home

By PORTER GILES.

Secretary of the Oakland Real Estate Board.

Under what obligation is any person to furnish a place for someone else to live in? Why should any man rely upon someone else to furnish a home for himself and family? Yet every man without a home of his own is relying on someone to do just that. And, every man without a house, assumes that someone else will, or should, furnish him with a home or place to live if he pays the required rent.

Frequently, the rent-payer manifests a feeling that he is not being treated as he should be, when he finds houses scarce and rents seemingly high. He seems never to appreciate that it has been and is up to him, and to him alone, to provide and furnish a home for himself.

He knows that he can buy a home on the easy payment plan and save about 40 per cent of his rent money every month, yet, Mr. Foolish continues year after year to rent, and give all of his rent money to a landlord.

Landlords who keep rents high are, perhaps, rendering a public service to the extent that they are thus doing their part to increase the number of home owners. Many rent-payers seemingly shut their eyes to the generally understood fact that home owners in every community socially and in business and banking circles, are looked up to and regarded as leading citizens. Every man who buys a home for himself and family thereby elevates himself and them in the community where they live.

A Service to the Whole Land

In the early summer of 1918 three of us made a long trip by automobile to pay a visit to a colored regiment at the front in France. The results more than repaid us for the time and trouble. One of the main compensations was First Class Private Cooksey, who, because he had been an elevator attendant in a Harlem apartment house, gave his occupation in his enlistment blank as "indoor chauffeur." It was to First Class Private Cooksey that the colonel of the regiment, seeing the expression on the others' faces when a minenwerfer from a German mortar fell near by on the day the command moved up to the front, and made a hole in the earth deep enough and wide enough and long enough to hide the average smoke house in—it was, I repeat, to First Class Private Cooksey that the colonel put this question:

"Cooksey, if one of those things drops right here alongside of us and goes off, are you going to stay by me?" "Kurnel," stated Cooksey with sincerity, "I ain't aimin' to tell you no lie. Ef one of them things busts clost to me I'll jest natchally be obliged to go away frum here. But please, suh, don't set me down as no deserter. Jest put it in de book as 'Absent without leave,' 'cause I'll be back jest ez soon ez I kin git my brakes to work."

"But what if the enemy suddenly appears in force without any preliminary bombardment?" pressed the colonel. "What do you think you and the rest of the boys will do then?" "Kurnel," said Cooksey, earnestly, "we may not stick by you but we'll shore render on service, anyway; we'll spread the news all over France 'at th' Germans is comin'."

Merely McEvoy.

MOVING PICTURE OF A MAN TRYING TO START A COLD CAR.

SCENE: Bundles guest into car, assuring him that he can get him to the train much quicker than the street car could. Guest has only three minutes to catch train. Host steps on starter. Motor takes no interest in the proceedings. Guest assures host he would much rather take street car. Host insists guest must stay in car so he won't miss his train. Meanwhile host is standing on the starter. It's growl is growing perceptibly weaker. Starter finally quits. Motor still uninterested. Host assures guest car never did this before. Meanwhile plays with choker, ignition switch, headlight and tail-light. Motor still does not care.

SUB-TITLE: "What Is So Rare as a Day in June?"

SCENE: Guest frantically tries to climb out of car. Host forcibly restrains him with pathetic assurance that car is going to start right now. Car doesn't think so. Host digs crank out from under seat and goes out in front and tries to turn motor over. Motor enters into the spirit of the occasion and refuses to turn. Large beads of sweat form on host's brow and free into icicles. They fall to pavement with tinkling sound. Guest can be heard sobbing in tonneau. Host can be heard sobbing in front. Motor cannot be heard.

SUB-TITLE: "For I'm to Be Queen of the May, Mother, Yes, I'm to Be Queen of the May."

SCENE: Host finally, after terrific effort, turns motor over. Turns it over again. And again, and again and again and again. Guest jumps out of car with wild maledictions and starts running for his train. Host so busy cranking car he does not see him. Motor finally starts. Host rushes madly around to seat and climbs in. Motor stops. Climbs out and goes through sad ordeal once more. Motor runs smoothly with only an occasional hollow cough. Host starts off, not noticing guest has left. Car runs half a block, coughs, sneezes, and stops.

SUB-TITLE: "You May Own My Body, Massa, But My Soul Belongs to God."

Good complexions die young, also. Love of country is the root of all taxes. All work and no play makes Jack a rich guy. Business won't come back; you'll have to go after it. Even an ordinary egg gets hard-boiled when it's stewed. Executive: One who knows what should be done and lets George do it.

After all, it doesn't matter so much what a man stands for if he stands four-square.

And so the junkers have their back to the wall. Well, fire when you are ready, Gridley.

Another difference between death and taxes is that death is a perennial, not an annual.

theory with a very skeptical young man. In front of a large store he collided with a woman. stubbornness broke her resistance and she told me everything.

I avoided making any remark. Five minutes later a new colleague, a woman, was handed severely that she "dropped her bag, which my friend picked up and returned to her with a thousand protestations of his sorrow, etc. Then I felt the time had come to call his attention to the fact that within five minutes he had managed to collide with two extremely pretty women.

He sheepishly confessed that "he was doing that all the time." "I am so absent-minded," he added. He was not absent-minded enough, however, that morning the postman handed her a few letters. There was one letter she opened at once. A letter from him. The opening paragraph was so brutal and cutting that she felt, as she put it, as though she were going to die. She felt and dislocated her ankle. A partly successful attempt at suicide. Also a clever unconscious trick to secure sympathy, an end secured, very well, by her nervous disease. Her family was extremely sympathetic and as "he" was not a brute, he soon called, bringing endearing words and more comfort.

Holding a Husband

Odele Garrison's New Phase
REVELATIONS OF A WIFE ~

His words were reassuring, even with the conviction of serious illness for my beloved friend which they held. But I knew that he was voicing his own belief, not simply trying to make me feel more confident, and I gathered courage from his assurance.

I should think you'd learn after while that you can't butt into everything that happens and be the cheerful little fix-it-up. There are a few things in the world that are beyond your aid, and this happens to be one of 'em.

She began this little tirade I craved the speed of the express.

heavy on my heart to permit speech, indeed, I think it rested on Dicky's also, and we drove the rest of our journey in absolute silence.

Yet, when Dicky's returned from the office with the brief remark, "No mail for me," I dumped a collection of envelopes addressed to himself into the back seat, and, climbing in beside me, frowningly began to read a long letter addressed to himself. I knew that I had something else to confront besides Little John's danger.

For Little John was in the well-known chronicle of Marsden, the art editor who had asked Dicky to illustrate the Pennington book, for which he had wished to have Grace Draper as model.

by heart, for it is a form of letter of steam to relieve the tension of his own nerves in which he frequently indulges. I know that that does not mean a hundredth part of what it seems to be, an infinitely small percent, which always feels like the tiny splinter lying at base of a fester.

As he finished I sent the car into burst of speed, which served purposes. It gave vent to my anger, and it diverted Dicky's attention.

"What the devil are you trying to do?" he thundered. "Do you want to have this thing turn a somersault or climb a tree? Don't you know I can drive like that with the kind of grace. You're likely to be both of us."

growing face, wondering what said letter had brought to the surface of his letter from Marsden, an art editor and one of Dicky's best friends. Then, as hastily as I could, I started the car, and put the village streets, with their good-humored, kindly, but inordinately curious people behind us.

I knew better than to offer any comment or question concerning the letter, for the expression upon my husband's face told me that in some way the missive held a distinct blow to him. And I also knew that it would not be long before I would be asked to explain the most precious perquisites of my marital life, this habit of Dicky's, of bringing almost every real problem and serious trouble to me for discussion. I have hands shut them away from their business or professional worries.

A QUIET QUESTION.

From the corner of my eye I could see what he was doing, while apparently using every bit of my vision was focused upon the road in front of me. Thus I saw that he read the letter thrice through, his frown deepening with each reading. Finally, with a muttered obijuration, he crumpled the sheets of note-paper savagely in his hands and flung them to the floor of the car.

If I had not been so worried I should have had hard work to keep a smile back at this action, so characteristic of Dicky. He had been angry enough to destroy them utterly, but this

He picked up the crumpled letter from the floor of the car and began smoothing it out.

 SMILES.

He tore them and threw them on the car floor, from which they could be retrieved again, rather than to the winds. That he meant me to see the latter I was as sure as I was of the fact that he wished at this instant dramatically to indicate his determination never to look at the latter again.

It was my cue, I knew. I wonder how many wives have studied their husband's moods until they know when it is safe to offer comfort or sympathy, or when it is wise to keep still. That "Chucky might snap" his under at me I was well aware, but I also knew that he needed the outlet which a question of mine might give him.

"Bad news, dear?" I asked quietly.

"Bad news," he repeated. "That depends on what you call bad news. Of course, nobody's dead, but I might as well be, in fact I'd just as soon be dead if what this letter indicates is true. It's the beginning of the end for me, all right?"

DEEP DESPONDENCY.

Genuinely alarmed, I mechanically slackened the pace of the car, and glanced at him apprehensively. I had heard similar speeches from his lips, but never one with such real feeling underneath it.

"Won't you tell me about it, dear?" I asked softly.

"Oh, for goodness sake let me alone!" he exclaimed pettishly. "If I can't talk over, I can't write. Give

KANSAS BUSINESS REVIVES AS RAIN BREAKS DROUGHT

Big Midwest Oil Industry Is Facing Long Period of Prosperity.

By Consolidated Press
LEASING WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 1.—Rain has brought relief to the wheat belt, especially Kansas, where a down-pour early this week broke the long winter drought on record. In many sections high winds have been blowing the dry unuprooted stalks away and with it the wheat. The rain has stopped this and saved millions of acres that were on the verge of ruin. Business generally in this section is marking time. The winter sales have ended and the spring business has not yet opened up. But with the wheat outlook improved, an optimistic feeling prevails among both wheat growers and retailers.

The oil industry is facing a long period of prosperity, according to statement today by Frank W. Frazer, chief vice-president of the Cities Service Company, which, with its subsidiary, the Standard Oil Company, is one of the largest oil producers in the mid-continent field. He said he looked for no decline in prices this spring, as the indications point to a constantly increasing demand for refined products.

Jail Terms for All
Berkeley's Bootleg
Agents, Judge Says

BERKELEY, March 1.—Berkeley will be "alcoholically pure" if Judge Robert Edgar has anything to say about it.

That every bootlegger convicted before him or pleading guilty to charges of illicit traffic in liquor will be sent to jail is the edict of the Berkeley judge. Judge Edgar demonstrated this week that he is as good as his word by sending two bootleggers to jail for six months each.

"What's the use of imposing fines?" asks the judge. "Bootleggers figure the fines among the expenses of their business. They laugh at such sentences. The only way to put them out of business is to send them to jail."

Judge Edgar has been the Nemesis of illicit liquor traffickers ever since Berkeley became dry some years ago. "I've been sending them to jail for ten years and I'm going to keep on sending 'em as long as I'm on the bench," declares the judge. "Berkeley, the home of the State university, should above all set an example to the rest of the State to follow."

Not long ago The Oakland TRIBUNE published an article about flowers that grow above the Arctic Circle, which proved a revelation to most Californians. Next Sunday another writer contributes "Flowers of the Volcanoes," which reveals that flowers actually grow on the smoldering cinders of Hawaiian volcanoes.

Tickets to Concert Are Reward for Leading Pupils
in Classes

BERKELEY, March 1.—The fifteen students in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda High Schools boasting the highest musical attainments have been honored by the Greek Theater management of the University of California.

In reward for their high marks in their musical studies, each of the students has been presented with a season ticket for the series of four concerts to be given by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra in Harmon Gymnasium on the university campus beginning this evening.

Five students were chosen each from Oakland, Berkeley, and Alameda High Schools. Selection was made on a basis of highest marks in musical studies for the month of February. The awards were made to stimulate an interest for good music among high school students and to reward meritorious work.

While the first award of its kind ever made, the presentation of season tickets will be made an annual event. Miss Blanche O'Neil, music supervisor in the Oakland schools, selected the Oakland and Alameda winners and Miss Victorine Hartley named the Berkeley students.

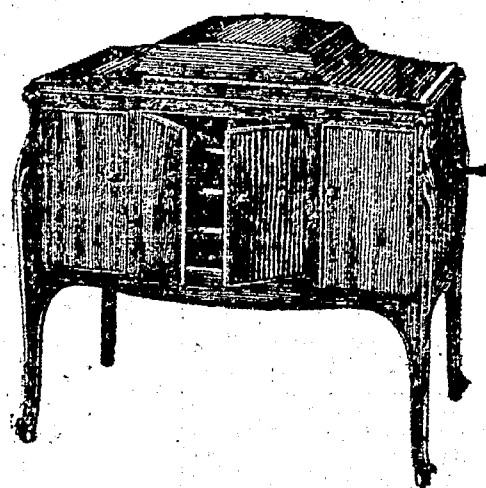

The Berkeley High School students selected are William Beckhous, Harold Davenport, Helen Merchant, Georgia Smith, and Harold Davenport.

Winners in the Oakland schools are: Alfred Zahout, Oakland High School; Irma Frazier, University High; Joziene Van Dar Ende, Technical High; Robert Kimm, Vocational High.

Judgment on a $100 Note

SAN JOSE, March 1.—A judgment for a larger amount of money than exists in the world at present was handed down this morning in the Superior Court by Judge J. R. Welch in a decision on a hundred dollar note made on January 18, 1897, by George Jones in favor of Henry B. Stuart, a grain and feed dealer, both of San Jose. The exact amount of the decision is $304,840,332,912,685.16. A staff of clerks has been employed for the last few days in figuring out the interest on the note which was made at 10 per cent per month compounded monthly.

At the time the note was made it was originally intended to be for three months, and it had been arranged that the interest was to be used to start a bank account for a child of Stuart's which had been born on the same date as the note.

Shortly after making the note, Jones went to Kansas, where he engaged in the mule raising business, and it is said that he made quite a fortune. Some time ago he returned to San Jose, where he is now connected with the Osem Automobile Company. The statute of limitation is not effective in this case, due to Jones' leaving the state. Just what steps will be taken to collect the amount has not been determined.

This is believed the largest judgment that has ever been handed down in any court in the world. Two hours were required today while accountants verified the figures of the clerks.

Bold Argentine Ant Will Attack Men, Science Finds

The Argentine ant which has heretofore confined its attentions to sugar, syrup and inanimate objects, is experiencing a change in disposition and habit. According to Professor Warren T. Clarke of the University of California, the ant, which has been the plague of the housewife, may now be classed as an enemy to man.

When seized with this new desperation it has been known to bite.

Professor Clarke has completed a trip from San Francisco to Baltimore and return for the purpose of working out control measures on shipboard, for the Argentine ant. Give the ant a sea voyage, he discovered, and it was ferocious and ambitious. It will attack a passenger with all the assurance of a cook laboring a galleys boy.

The ants have become almost a plague, and it is to the Clarke experiments that mariners are looking for relief. The professor will publish his findings, which, it is said, will record in detail one of the few records of an ant attacking a human being.

Man Gets Five Days
For Carrying Pistol

When City Physician John T. Kegan failed to find anything wrong with Manuel Moreno he was sentenced to serve five days in the city prison by Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell. Moreno was charged with carrying a concealed weapon. He was arrested at the corner of Seventh and Washington streets. He told the judge that he carried the revolver because he was afraid of hold-up men. Examination by Dr. Kegan was ordered when it was thought Moreno was mentally unbalanced.

$10,000 Heart Balm
Asked by Husband

M. G. Costa of Oakland today filed suit for $10,000 against Lionel Azevedo, also known as Louis Sears, charging him with alienating the affections of Mrs. Azellina Costa. Costa, in his complaint, declares Azevedo ingratiated himself into the affections of Mrs. Costa to such a degree that she deserted her husband and family. As a result he has suffered much mental anguish which will require $10,000 to assuage.

RAIL SPECIAL TO BOOST OAKLAND'S
TRADE IN VALLEYBusiness to Make Week's Circuit of San Joaquin Towns; Off April 1.

Riding on a train chartered especially for the occasion, Oakland business men to a number of nearly 200 soon will carry the story of the city's industries to all parts of the San Joaquin Valley. The date has not been set but probably will be about April 1.

This trade building trip, being arranged under the direction of C. W. Foy, secretary of the Trade Extension Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, is one of several planned for 1922.

On the train there will be exhibits of the products of the firms taking part, and in the party will be two or more representatives of each interested company. There also will be a number of active Oakland boosters, who are going along to assist in selling Oakland to the people of that fertile country lying just south and east of San Francisco Bay.

The plans provide for a week's trip, running from Monday until Saturday, with stops at from 19 to 29 of the principal cities lying between Oakland and Tehachapi. The average stop at each point will be from 40 minutes to one hour and a half.

Already 70 firms have begun plans for representation on this excursion. It is expected this number will be doubled before the train starts.

Information in regard to this trip may be had by calling C. W. Foy at the Chamber of Commerce. The members of the Trade Extension Committee follow: William H. Mayhew, Max Greenberg, C. A. Nesbitt, M. G. Reeves, and Ralph Seely.
